

Steelworkers worry, wait

The eyes of 4,000 employees of Granite City Steel are on Pittsburgh, Pa., where the presidents of United Steelworkers locals from across the nation will gather tomorrow to consider possible revisions in their 1980-83 contract's third year.

Approximately a half-dozen Granite Cityans are making the trip and hope to return here Friday night. They have heard no specific recommendations as yet but expect to receive proposals stemming from union-management discussions.

Some observers are predicting "givebacks" of part or all of raises and/or fringe benefit improvements scheduled otherwise to take effect Aug. 1. Others are not sure this will be the outcome. Rank-and-file ratification would be necessary.

Background briefings were held here this week by several union locals. Granite Cityans also have taken part in discussions conducted in Detroit and St. Louis this month.

Earnings of steelmakers have been hurt by the economic recession, and there are widespread layoffs. Local layoffs, varying each week, have been averaging 600 to 900 of the 4,000 total. National Steel Corporation, owner of Granite City Steel, said July 22 it lost $90 million in the first six months of 1982.

A spokesman said Tuesday all GC Steel officers (the president and vice-presidents) own and operate U.S.-made automobiles. He acknowledged that some steelworkers and some supervisory personnel have foreign cars, which are built of foreign steel.

Contract reopening talks were authorized June 18 by the union's basic steel industry conference. Lloyd McBride, international Steelworkers president, said then that he would like for all the discussions to end by this weekend.

In writing McBride May 26 to propose the contract talks, J. Bruce Johnston, (Continued on Page 5)

Fair warning—energy unsolved

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record
(Last of two articles)

The solution to the world's energy problem is...

Do not expect a precise answer from the 1982 World's Fair in Knoxville, Tenn., where the theme is "energy turns the world" and where more than 30 nations have discussed the topic in detail. So far, they have produced more than 30 versions of a remedy.

But there is a consensus that many nations' reliance on a central, interconnected power system has considerable built-in vulnerability. A solution, while not yet clear, is said to be essential and urgent.

Meanwhile, the fair continued to make news this week on two other fronts.

An ex-convict employed at the fair was found to have in his room an arsenal of weapons, explosives, computer equipment and a security diagram linked to a nuclear power plant; his intentions were unclear but he had sufficient materials to make several bombs.

And a count showed that in its first 84 days—the fair had another 100 days remaining at that point—it had attracted 5,704,341 visitors, a daily average of 67,000, which is likely to enable the exposition to make a profit. (Past fairs have always lost money.)

The latest fully sanctioned world's fair in more than 40 years, Knoxville now expects to attract a total of more than 11 million people by its closing date, Oct. 31.

An international energy symposium series is the principal educational activity of the fair and serves as its energy work sessions was key to a position paper and a case study.

Four of the work sessions were organized around the past decade's world: industrialized nations with market economies; industrialized nations with non-market economies; energy-surplus industrializing nations; and energy-deficient industrializing nations.

The other three work sessions focused on issues of worldwide impact: nuclear energy, biomass energy and energy for rural development.

Based on this analytical discussion and integration process, recommendations and resolutions were made for Symposium III, held May 24-27, 1982.

The goal this spring was to ratify findings of the previous symposium, seek a process for continued exchange of technology and resources, and identify global energy commonalities and an agenda for continuation of the deliberations.

Armand Hammer, board chairman of Occidental Petroleum Corp., noted in May that "for the past year, there has been a so-called glut in the oil market, leading to a mistaken conclusion by many that the energy crisis is over."

Predicting that oil prices will rise from $34 per barrel to about $100 because the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) is cutting back production, he said, "History has a way of repeating itself. The crisis is just catching its second wind."

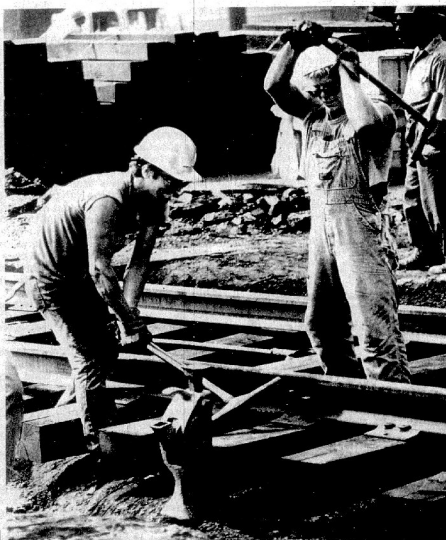

As Dr. Daniel Vergin sees it—he is the senior author and editor of the newly released "Global Insecurity" report—"Merely repeating words like 'glut' and 'market' as if they were some mantra will not prove sufficient."

"Glut can turn to shortfall on little more than an assassin's bullet. And the orderly and reasonable functioning of markets can be brutally overwhelmed by an upheaval and by the sudden panic of the unprepared."

Helping lead the discussions at the fair was John H. Gibbons, director of the Office of Technology Assessment for the U.S. Congress.

Most participants agreed that the worldwide energy outlook requires attention now.

'SRO' audience sees Venice city budget cut

By VALERIE EVEDEEN
of the Press-Record

Unlike most budget hearings where the public, more often than not, is conspicuous by its absence, Tuesday night's hearing of the Venice city appropriation ordinance and revenue sharing budget attracted a "standing room only" (SRO) crowd.

By unanimous action the aldermen approved a budget of $1,272,182 for all city operations in 1982-83, reduced by $5,665 from last year's budgeted amount, and a federal revenue sharing budget of $211,306, allocated for demolition of unsafe buildings, civil defense, senior citizens and police overtime, among other disbursements.

For the fourth year, the city operating budget does not include any

$750,000 imbalance in budget

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Granite City's newly adopted general and special budgets approved 10 to 2 Tuesday night form a collective $750,000 imbalance, almost double the prediction of City Controller Joseph Miklovic, who had expected the City Council to approve a wastewater treatment rate hike that could have reduced the deficit. It did not boost the rate.

The budget appears in detail elsewhere in today's Press-Record.

Mayor Paul Schuler turned aside a $9 per quarter residential sewage treatment rate increase recommended by the city controller and plant superintendent, citing economic hardships that might arise for low-income city residents suddenly faced with the rate hike.

Aldermen took the mayor's message one step farther than he intended, however, and defeated his favored alternative, a $5 per quarter increase. The council went on to reject in rapid succession four other proposals on rates and staff size that were supported by the wastewater committee chairman, Fourth Ward Alderman Warren Decatur, and a committee member, Fifth Ward Alderman Jake Varadani.

In addition to the absence of a rate hike, Tuesday's four-hour deliberations, which included the treatment plant debate and a regular council session, produced some major and minor changes for the city's current fiscal year of May 1982 to April 1983.

Aldermen decided to continue operating the city's own air pollution division, despite Seventh Ward Alderman Paul Bowler's motion, defeated 7 to 5, to disband it. The action reversed an informal 5 to 4 vote taken earlier this month to cease the local air pollution control program.

Aldermen unanimously approved a $221,000 federal revenue-sharing budget, squeezing in appropriations for a new city ambulance, police radio equipment, curb repairs, and $70,000 in street equipment from the small portion of the federal funds not earmarked to help finance the city's payroll.

In the debated and revised $2.15 million wastewater plant budget, the aldermen included funds for a four-year payment plan intended to gradually fund delinquent plant bond reserve accounts. These have caused legal rumblings from an upstate bondholder, who has warned the city that failure to fund the accounts could affect the city's credit rating.

Scrapped were plans for a new city hall heating and air-conditioning system, despite statements by the mayor and controller that city employees worked some days last winter when temperatures could not be regulated.

The mayor added funds to the budget to help support Belleville Area College's Retired Senior Aides program, which acts as an employment agency for low-income senior citizens. The mayor also included $86,000 for an annual painting program, of which all but $6,000 will be reimbursed to the city.

Slashed from the appropriations was four-fifths of the half-million dollars the controller had budgeted for future wastewater plant repairs. Plant Superintendent Terrence McMillan and Miklovic sought the funds in part to prepare for expected federal mandates to improve the plant here. Such a request could mean more than $600,000 in repair work, it was estimated.

The $11.5 million appropriations approved Tuesday contain no money for city employee salary raises though only one of the city's five major bargaining units has settled contract terms for this year.

Police and firefighter union representatives, in particular, have indicated they are not prepared to agree to a contract containing no wage

700 applaud as 50 speak against rate hikes

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

A crowd of 700 that gathered last night for a 2½-hour hearing on proposed Illinois Power gas and electric rate hikes might just as well have been seated in a revival tent, rather than at the Granite City Township Building. Unanimous opposition to rate increases was voiced.

The responsive crowd, a large part of which consisted of elderly persons, applauded and cheered as each of 50 speakers urged Illinois Commerce Commission representatives to reject the rate proposals. A final decision is expected next winter.

People were angry last night at the packed governmental building. They were unhappy because IP wants its customers to pay 19.9 percent more for electricity and 9.7 percent more for natural gas.

They voiced displeasure that a substantial portion of that money may be spent for additional funding of the Clinton nuclear power plant, which was to have cost $450 million and now is estimated to cost over $2 billion. The project's completion date has been moved back to 1984.

A crowd of about 60 gathered on the lawn of the City Hall building for a rally an hour prior to the beginning of the 6:30 p.m. hearing. Some carried signs reading, "Heat or eat?—That is the question" and "CWIP (construction work in progress) in the rate base is unfair."

But it was at the hearing that citizens and members of various organizations opposed to rate hikes made their point most effectively. Receiving the public's views were Charles Lippe, ICC hearing officer, and Mike Gibson of the consumer affairs division of the ICC.

Lippe gave assurance that all would be heard, but many voiced disbelief. Looking on were representatives of IP, their facial expressions varying from mild amusement to discomfort to embarrassment at various times.

Senator Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) presented a joint proposal on behalf of himself and Rep. Sam Wolf (D-Granite City). "We are very concerned with the direction and the speed in which utility rates are escalating, apparently with total disregard for the feelings and welfare of the consumer," Vadalabene said.

The rate increase request "is conservatively estimated to generate $200 million in additional revenues per year. Less than eight months prior to this request, a $100 million per year increase had been granted to this same utility," he said.

The cheering started when the state senator asked, "If a company such as Illinois Power persists in the continuation of such a project, then in lieu of a large rate increase why not use some of the $112 million in dividends that were paid to stockholders at the end of 1981? Or some of the $99 million in dividends paid after 1979?"

Numerous speakers suggested giving dividends to those affected by the rate hike. "They are forcing IP rate payers to serve as involuntary investors in their company," Bill Steiner of the Madison Concerned Citizens organization said.

Steiner said $875 million from increased rates will be used for the Clinton plant if the increase proposal is approved, forcing customers to "pay for IP's mistakes and mismanagement." It was pointed out

$914,945 park budget

The Granite City Park District Board of Commissioners adopted the 1982-83 budget of $914,945 at Wednesday night's meeting. State law requires approval of the budget by the July 31 deadline.

A total of $590,494 is earmarked for the Corporate Fund which is approximately 65 percent of the operating budget for the park district. Following is a breakdown of the Corporate Fund — administrative, $103,010; parks, $255,432; concessions, $58,805; swimming pool, $46,850; and ice rink, $120,397.

Of the ice rink total, $45,100 has already been paid out for recent repainting of the interior ceiling of the structure done during the present fiscal year which began May 1.

The $262,205 budget for the Recreation Fund includes $48,635 for neighborhood parks; $145,850 for the Wilson Park playground; $31,500 for the Lincoln Place Community Center and $36,420 for the Harold Brown Recreation Center.

Under the Miscellaneous Fund, $42,596 is listed for the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund; $16,300 for tort liability insurance and workmen's compensation and $3,350 for the annual audit. The total for the fund is $62,246.

The $2-43 budget adopted by the board reflects a $17,593 increase over last year's budget of $897,352. During the meeting, a resolution was passed by the commissioners opposing the proposed Illinois Power rate increases. Immediately after the meeting, Jeff Worthen, vice president of the park board, read the resolution at the Illinois Commerce Commission hearing on the IP rate increases at the Granite City Township Hall.

Longer prison term for Davis

By ED GURNEY

Arlin W. Davis of Granite City, who originally received a three-year sentence in connection with a fatal auto wreck, was given 10 years Tuesday by a Madison County judge who was ordered by the appellate court to resentence Davis.

Associate Judge John Day ordered that Davis, 35, serve consecutive sentences — one after another — on four of the five charges on which he was convicted in connection with the New Year's Eve 1979 triple fatality on State Aid 35. The fifth sentence was made concurrent — to be served at the same time as the others.

Davis had appealed his conviction on three counts of reckless homicide, one count of driving while intoxicated and one count of driving with a suspended or revoked license.

The Fifth District Appellate Court in March upheld the convictions, but ordered Day to resentence Davis. Day had only sentenced Davis on the driving while intoxicated charge.

Davis' attorney, Jim Wallis of Granite City, said the matter will probably be appealed again. He said Day was mistaken in making the sentences consecutive. The appellate court had said nothing about making them consecutive, Wallis added.

Davis, of the Holiday Mobile Homes, was convicted in a bench trial in November 1980. Killed in the accident were Quad-City residents Larry Lehman, 42, and his daughters Nicole Lehman, 5, and Stacy Lehman, 1. Lehman's wife and the girls' mother, Bev, 20, survived the crash.

She gave dramatic testimony on the crash and challenged Davis to look at her and a picture of her daughters, saying "I want you to see what you took from me." He kept his eyes covered by a hand.

Day on Tuesday added three-year sentences on the driving while intoxicated conviction and the driving with a suspended or revoked license conviction. The last sentence was made concurrent.

State's Attorney Don Weber, representing his case, said that Keith Jensen, who tried the case, had recommended that the judge impose consecutive sentences totaling 11 years.

"I don't think that 11 years is enough for killing three people, but I think that's all the court is allowed to impose," Weber said.

He said a stiff sentence was needed to protect the public and act as a deterrent. Weber cited two previous court decisions that he said justified consecutive sentences in the Davis case.

He told reporters later that prosecutors under current law "have been going through legal gymnastics to get a guy sentenced to what he deserves. I think the legislature ought to pay attention to what's going on."

The current penalty for reckless homicide is one to three years in prison. "One to three is not adequate," Weber said. "We need a higher maximum."

Wallis in court argued that the cases cited did not support consecutive sentences.

He said the Illinois Constitution mandates punishment and rehabilitation. He asked the judge to impose a sentence "which will reflect an opportunity and call for rehabilitation of this defendant."

Wallis said everyone has sympathy for the victims and Mrs. Lehman, "but there's a limit to what this court can do in giving recompense."

Earlier in the hearing, Wallis presented information he wanted the judge to take into consideration.

He said Davis from April to July had served time in the prison at Joliet on a separate drunk driving conviction in connection with a November 1979 incident in Collinsville.

Davis served the sentence after the Illinois Supreme Court refused to hear his appeal, Wallis said. Davis previously served seven days in the county on a conviction of resisting a police officer in connection with the Collinsville incident.

While in prison, Davis served as major's clerk, which Wallis described as "one of the top clerical jobs in the institution." The attorney said Davis has been attending college and next month will complete all requirements for a bachelor's degree in human services at SIUE.

Wallis said Davis is still feeling some of the effects of the injuries he suffered in the accident, but is not currently under medical care.

Since the accident, Davis has not had anything to drink except wine during communion, Wallis said. "During that time, there's been no indication of any antisocial or criminal behavior whatsoever," the lawyer maintained.

Weber said he had no objection to the introduction of the material by Wallis, except for Wallis' statements that Davis had not had anything to drink. "We have no way of knowing that one way or another," Weber said.

Davis remains free on bond pending the appeal.

North marching band's summer session to open

The Granite City High School North band department summer program will begin Monday, Aug. 2, with registration for incoming freshmen members and all auxiliaries—flags, rifles and pom. Registration begins at 9 a.m. in the band room. All returning members are to register at 10 a.m. in the band room.

The program will run for three weeks, Monday through Friday, with classes scheduled from 9 a.m. to noon and 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Classes will include beginning pom. pom, flags and rifles for incoming freshmen girls; beginning marching for instrumentalists and auxiliaries; advanced marching for instrumentalists and auxiliaries; percussion ensemble and show production of both pre-game and halftime marching band shows for the coming season.

Tuition $12 is payable upon registration. The summer band program at North is under the direction of Robert D. Todoff, assisted by field conductors Julie Hay and Elizabeth Trimmer, pom. pom squad leaders Angela Rozyczki and Stephanie Ryan, flag captains Sheryl Hanks and Denise Rea, rifle captain Robert D. Todoff, and percussionists Sandra Brown and Karla Stawar.

Independent study of sewer plant staffing

Some Granite City aldermen pointed to a "lack of credibility" Tuesday night as the reason for their refusal to support a residential sewage treatment rate hike. Instead, aldermen supported a compromise proposal to move quickly in hiring an independent firm to survey plant operations.

The present treatment charge to Granite City families is $13 every three months.

The council expects an as yet to be selected consulting firm to draw a precise picture of the plant's efficiency and to suggest an appropriate staffing number for the plant.

Seventh Ward Alderman Michael Modrusis said he could justify a sewer rate hike to the residents of his ward before an independent study at least confirms the need for such a rate hike. Other aldermen agreed.

Both plant Superintendent Terrence McMillan and the plaintiffs union agent told council members Tuesday they would welcome such a survey to verify their own contentions that the plant is now being run as efficiently as circumstances allow.

McMillan replied to aldermen who doubted his statements on operations and staffing at the plant that he has already made some of the same statements under oath during a recent court hearing involving the city and the SCA Services landfill. The landfill is now under court order to accept the wastewater plant sludge.

McMillan said that if the still unresolved case comes to court again, he will explain and defend in greater detail, under oath, his supervision of the plant. He said the plant is barely a year out of its embryonic, start-up phase. He invited aldermen to attend any such future hearings.

In a sometimes heated caucus debate on the wastewater plant held prior to the council session, Seventh Ward Alderman Paul Bowler accused a staff member of "double talk," and said he would have qualms about replacing the current plant superintendent.

The council's decision to hire a consulting firm was the only victory Tuesday for Committee Chairman Warren Decatur, who is due to be replaced as chairman, and a committee member, Fifth Ward Alderman Jake Vardian. Decatur is a Fourth Ward alderman.

The two had called the pre-budget conference to put forth several of their recommendations for reorganization of the plant. The two aldermen based their report on observations of the city's own plant and two other treatment plants, in Alton and Belleville. One of their recommendations was to hire an operations and maintenance consultant.

Five other recommendations, defeated when brought to the council floor Tuesday as motions, were: raising rates by $4.50 and laying off seven employees; raising rates by $7.50 and laying off four employees; raising rates by $4.50 and reducing individual staff hours from 40 to 30 hours per week; raising rates to $9 and laying off three employees; and cutting employee hours from 40 to 30 hours without a rate raise.

None of the proposals received more than three votes from the 12 aldermen present. Besides Decatur and Vardian, only Second Ward Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman supported most of the proposals.

Mayor Paul Schuler's own suggestion of $5 per quarter residential rate hike was defeated 7 to 5.

Extend Venice food program to Aug. 20

The Venice Park Board voted at a special meeting Monday night to end the summer recreation program or club on Aug. 6, as scheduled, rather than extending it for two weeks. However, a food program will continue through Aug. 20.

The Rev. John Henry Williams, park board president, and Earl Hogan, a park commissioner, supported extension of the recreation program but three other members disagreed, noting a lack of funding for Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) workers for the additional two weeks.

Williams said the Venice food service program operated by the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission will run through Aug. 20.

Continuation of the food service was approved on the condition that the park district will be responsible only for providing the site and for transporting food from Dunbar School to the park.

It was determined that Venice will not be responsible if fewer children participate in the food program after the recreation program has been completed.

The food hours are 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. A discussion brought out that one of those who has worked with the food service program also has worked for the EOC. The park district was not aware of this when he was hired.

It was decided to terminate a staff member whose duties have included preparation of grant requests.

Sparks opposes sewer settlement

"The county should never have agreed to settle with Brandon Heights residents," Walter "Dick" Sparks, supervisor of Chouteau Township and former chairman of the Madison County Special Sewer Area One committee, told the regular meeting of the sewer and drainage committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

Sparks was referring to an ongoing dispute between the county and Brandon Heights residents who discovered that the county's new sewer lines was laid on an apparently-improper easement in their back yards, too close to their homes to allow swimming pools or home additions.

Sparks said that the dissatisfied Brandon Heights residents should have filed suit against the subdividers of Brandon Heights, the realtor who sold them the property or the contractor who installed the sewers — not the county.

"They (the subdividers) knew when they platted the subdivision where the sewers were. They (the realtors) knew the sewers were there. They should have told the people (buying the homes)," Sparks contended.

He also believes that when the contractors first staked out the route for the new sewers through Brandon Heights, they were told by property owners that the sewers were going in the wrong place. "They (the contractors) should never have proceeded. They should have stopped right there and gone and straightened it out before installing the sewers," Sparks stated.

Sparks, who is no longer on the sewer committee, agrees that failure of the committee under his leadership played a part in creating the current problem, but said he had no choice. When the county first obtained easements for the sewer lines (where they subsequently were placed), the sewer district had no money to record the easements and the county recorder of deeds refused to record them free or extend credit to the sewer committee for recording them, he noted.

"I wasn't going to take the money out of my own pocket," Sparks told the committee, noting that the county wanted $7 to record each easement and that there were hundreds of easements to record.

Subsequently, he noted, Ed Juneau, engineer of the sewer project, said he would attempt to record the easements as larger sections, Sparks said.

However, the former committee chairman noted, the easements were never recorded. That, undoubtedly, played a role in enabling Brandon Heights Subdivision to be platted with the new sewers literally feet from residents' back doors.

"If Zeke Smith (an assistant state's attorney and the attorney for the county) would just take a stance and say, 'The county is not going to pay for this. Take it to court.' I don't believe any Madison County judge would find the county responsible," Sparks told the Chamber committee.

A Madison County judge and attorneys for both the county and Brandon Heights residents did apparently reach an out-of-court settlement several months ago as part of the county's condemnation suit for the sewer easements and a countersuit by the residents.

In that agreement, Brandon Heights residents were told they would be allowed to divide, according to the values of their property, a share of a total sum equal to installing new sewer lines within the homes proper sewer easement.

The settlement also included the payment of fees and expenses accumulated by the resident's attorney during their long legal battle with the district.

However, at the July 14 meeting of the county sewer committee, the district withdrew its offer to compensate residents, claiming as reasons the discovery of additional unrecorded easements, the possibility other unrecorded easements may yet surface, and the complications caused by some disputed Brandon homes titles.

"I think that everyone concerned, including the county, should step in their own juice, and we have another look at this situation in another month or two," Smith said at the sewer committee meeting.

Residents are now being asked to consider allowing the district to move equipment on the Brandon Heights property for the purpose of installing new sewer lines within the proper easements or to find themselves bypassed by the district sewer system entirely.

The sewer committee has informed residents by letter that their sewer line could be rerouted behind Brandon Heights to Old Altan Road in order to service homes in Moleen Acres. Owners in Brandon Heights would then have to comply with new county septic system regulations, while continuing to pay for the county sewer system's property tax assessment.

Venice-Madison Legion installs

About 400 members and guests witnessed the joint installation of officers for Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307 and Auxiliary held during the weekend at the Post Home, 740 Broadway in Venice.

Installing officer for the post was John Cox of Cahokia, commander of the Legion's 22nd District. Mrs. Betty Leroy of Highland, a past 22nd District president, directed the installation of the auxiliary's officer corps.

Serving as installing sergeants-at-arms were Miss Dorothy Hinson and Louis Soucier. Presentation of the colors by an honor guard preceded the formal installation.

Jack Tolliver, retiring Post 307 commander, was presented with a membership trophy by Thomas Domino of Collinsville, a past 22nd District commander.

It was announced the Venice-Madison post had achieved a membership total of 110 percent during 1982.

Post 307 officers installed were:

Commander Sam Mang, who has held the office on a previous occasion; Senior Vice Commander Jerry Cio; Junior Vice Commander Robert Neely; Kenneth Hinson, adjutant and historian; Edward Foley Jr., finance officer; John Hillmer, chaplain; James Jones, sergeant-at-arms; and Henry Lopez, service officer and Kenneth Hinson, adjutant and historian, who has held the Auxiliary officers installed for 1982-83 were: Diana Scherrills, serving her second term as president; Angie Udell, first vice president; Tecla Hoelt, second vice president; Dorothy Hinson, secretary; Norma Hillmer, treasurer; Hazel Pozniak, chaplain; Loretta Zeigler, historian; and Eleanor Weber, sergeant-at-arms.

In another special ceremony, four officers of the newly-recognized Sons of the Legion were installed by District Commander Cox. They are: Commander Jerry Schodroski; Finance Officer Dan Tolliver; Chaplain Phil Mang; and Sergeant-at-Arms Harry Guida. Dinner preceded the ceremonies and dancing followed.

Rape occurs in Bend Road area

An East St. Louis woman was taken to Bend Road south of here and was raped Monday between 9 and 11 p.m. She said the suspect, who is being sought, initially arrived at her home in a yellow vehicle to visit at 10:30 a.m. Monday.

She smoked a marijuana cigarette and he left at noon. Appearing to be under the influence of drugs or alcohol, he returned at 4:30 p.m. while she was across the street at a grocery store. The man waited for her at his auto.

The two sat and drank while watching television. She declined an out-of-town weekend trip, saying she had no money. She then went to a neighbor's home to bring her back, telling the neighbor that a man was visiting her and she did not want to be alone with him.

He asked if the victim wanted to go to the riverfront with him. She declined but asked if he would drive her to her relatives' home in Madison so she could give money to her son, she told authorities.

At 6:30 p.m. he drove through National City on Route 3 to Madison but without stopping he followed Second Street to Route 203 and went south to Bend Road. By then it was dark and he drove into a wooded area and forced her out of the car.

She ran but was caught and forced back into the auto, where the rape occurred. He then drove her to her home.

She was treated and released at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, where laboratory samples and clothing were taken for evidence.

Rail commuter aid by Illinois

The state has approved public transportation funding for purchase of 24 new locomotives as a rehabilitation of 96 railroad commuter cars in northeastern Illinois at a cost of more than $28 million. The governor approved grants totaling $5,689,314 in state funds, providing the entire local match for $22,770,400 in federal funds.

The state mass transportation capital grant program is assisting the Regional Transportation Authority in providing improved facilities for more comfortable and efficient commuter railroad services in the Chicago area.

In addition to the cars and locomotives, the funding covers construction of a railroad substation, replacement of rails, rehabilitation of bridges and installation of federally required impact-resistant window glazing on locomotives and commuter cars.

New approach to court access

The Fair Trial-Free Press Committee of the Illinois State Bar Association said Tuesday, it has adopted a novel approach to resolving disputes between the media and the judiciary.

The committee will serve as a third-party agency to engage in fact-finding missions and to consult with judges and media representatives throughout the state in an effort to reconcile differences.

The project was announced by Committee Co-Chairmen Ralph Otwell and Francis E. Hickey, Otwell is Editor of the Chicago Sun-Times and Hickey is a Rockford attorney concentrating in communications law.

The idea of establishing a law-media "bridge" between contending parties grew out of a belief, said Otwell and Hickey, that much ill feeling and confrontation arise simply from misunderstandings and misconceptions that can be reconciled before a dispute escalates into name-calling or repressive actions.

The new effort they said, is aimed at both alleviating prejudicial publicity that creates problems for the judicial system, and maintaining media access to the courts. The committee will provide non-binding advice to parties involved in a fair trial-free press dispute.

Illinois is one of the 22 states without voluntary bench-bar-press guidelines for coverage of judicial proceedings.

Such guidelines have drawn increasing fire from media organizations in recent months since a judge in Washington state unilaterally made the rules mandatory. He required the media to adhere to the rules before gaining admission to pre-trial hearings in a case alleging attempted murder.

The effort to settle differences in Illinois on an informal, case-by-case basis is believed to be the first such program in the nation.

Also, the Illinois State Bar is one of the few bar associations with a fair trial-free press committee composed of journalists in addition to judges and lawyers.

The committee's mediation project has received the support of an overwhelming majority of the presiding judges in the state's 21 judicial circuits, in addition to the Illinois Judges Association. The judges were canvassed by Cook County Circuit Court Judge Mary H. Hooton, a member of the ISBA committee.

Harry G. Comerford, chief judge of the Circuit Court of Cook County, said the "proposal seems to have great promise for creating a better understanding."

Requests for the committee's informal mediation services will be channeled through the ISBA headquarters at the Illinois Bar Center in Springfield.

Committee members will then be assigned to interview the parties involved and to try to resolve differences.

When useful approaches can be developed that might have application elsewhere, the committee will issue summaries of its findings.

The committee has the following officers and members: Ralph Otwell and Francis E. Hickey, co-chairmen; Barry Hines, Springfield, vice-chairman; Frank Grenard, Chicago, secretary; and Stephen Anderson, Chicago, Jane E. Fisher, Carbondale, Patrick D. Gordon, Springfield, Lawrence D. Gunnels, Chicago, Judge Mary H. Hooton, Chicago, Judge Blanche M. Manning, Chicago, Virginia L. Marmaduke, Pinckneyville, John A. Mitchell, Springfield, and Judge Dorothy W. Spomer, Cairo.

Hoffman attends rally

The annual convention of the National Right to Life Committee, a three-day meeting and sharing of 1,500 leaders from across the country, was conducted July 15 to 18 in Cherry Hill, N.J.

Marty Hoffman of Granite City attended.

At the opening press conference, Dr. John C. Wilkie of Cincinnati, national president, stressed the fact that it would be a meeting of leaders and "not a rally for members."

"We have our rally on Jan. 22 in Washington, D.C. when we have brought up to 100,000 people to the capital, sometimes in sub-zero weather."

Dr. Wilkie outlined goals of the national pro-life movement, pointing out that the "happenings in the near future will be in the legislatures, and this fall in the elections."

Meanwhile, the pro-life leaders will share experiences and ideas on voter registration and identification and promotion of support for pro-life legislation currently before Congress.

The first of these is a human life bill, introduced by Senator Jesse Helms of North Carolina. It declares the "obvious scientific fact" that full human life begins at conception and that human personhood begins in the unborn child. Dr. Wilkie said.

Senator Orrin Hatch's measure would amend the Constitution and strike the court-mandated freedom of a woman to kill her unborn child through the entire nine months.

It also would take from the judiciary "the total power to control abortion and place it in Congress," Dr. Wilkie added.

It does not say that other legislative bodies must do away with abortion, but that they may.

The third move will be a bill introduced by Senator Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon to restrict funding of abortions throughout the nation.

Mrs. Jean Doyle of Florida, national vice-president, traced the development of the baby in the womb, stressing that from the moment of conception a developing human being is present.

"The expansion of the abortion mentality to include infanticide and euthanasia" was reported by James Bopp, general counsel of the national committee. He cited the recent case of "Infant Doe" in Bloomington, Ind., a Down's Syndrome baby who was killed by starvation after the child was abandoned by its parents, with the consent of the courts.

"Dr. (C. Everett) Koop, U.S. surgeon general, has warned many times," Bopp said, "that the handicapped newborn are being purposely starved to death."

There also is before Congress a bill, H.R. 6492, introduced by Rep. John Erlenborn of Illinois, which would prevent the starvation death of handicapped children. It is known as the "Handicapped Infant Protection Act."

Fifty workshops were conducted during the convention, covering a wide range of subjects.

3% raise at universities

Faculty members at state universities in Illinois will receive a three percent pay increase beginning January 1, 1983, through an agreement reached between the State Universities Retirement System and the State Universities.

Thompson administration officials claim the higher education community and members of the General Assembly.

The basis of the agreement is funding of the State Universities' Retirement System at 62.5 percent.

Part of the salary raises will be paid from general revenue funds that Gov. James R. Thompson approved above his March budget proposal.

STATE FIGHTING LEAK OF HAZARDOUS WASTE. Governor James R. Thompson has approved the release of $40,000 from the state's Hazardous Waste Fund for emergency action at the A & F Materials Co., Inc., site near Olney in Richland County.

The action is aimed at preventing leakage of as much as 840,000 gallons of highly contaminated material into a nearby stream, he said.

New site for the Sweet Adelines

The Collinsville Chapter of Sweet Adelines, 1982 second-place regional medalist, is announcing a new rehearsal location at the Son-Life Fellowship, 1980 Vandalia, Rt. 150, Collinsville.

The singers are inviting all area ladies to be their guests at rehearsals any Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. No formal musical training is needed—just the love of music.

The main purpose of this non-profit organization is to encourage continued interest and activity in the American folk art of barbershop and choral singing.

The group is currently working on music for its show to be staged Nov. 6.

For more information, local residents may contact any Granite City member: Pat Farrington, Donna Feig, Betty Goldasich, Edith Headrick, Jody Little, Ethel McCann, Betty Moritz, Billie Vance or Linda Watson.

Madison city fire department president shot

Mike Skoklo, 22, of 1133 Greenwood St., Madison, suffered a gunshot wound to the left shoulder in an incident taking place at about 12:30 a.m. Tuesday.

He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center from Baker's Drive Inn, 1317 Edwardsville Road, and was admitted for surgery.

Granite City officers initially were called to Baker's but referred the case to Madison police after determining the shooting occurred in Madison.

Details were not available from the Madison police, who have asked the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation to investigate the shooting.

Skoklo, who was in stable condition Tuesday, is president of the Madison fire department.

First funds flow to taxing agencies

Quadrant area taxpayers in large numbers are paying their real estate taxes to township collectors, and many of the payments include both installments, it was noted today.

Nameoki Town Collector Norman Hall, receiving $58,000 in the first three days, sent initial disbursements to the various taxing bodies during the past weekend.

Although hospitalized for tests, Granite City Treasurer Nick Petrillo plans to send the first allocations from his office later this week. He said payments have topped $289,000.

Hall emphasized that his procedures apportion the tax distributions "to the penny," based on the latest information available from county officials.

He said many taxpayers have differing combinations of residence within taxing district boundaries, and that 29 combinations are being taken into account in Nameoki Township collections.

Rules for yard sales

Granite Cityans conducting yard sales are being reminded by authorities of the need to comply with a variety of rules.

Ordinance 12-20-010 requires city permits and provides for fines of up to $100 for non-compliance.

Ordinance 12-16-050 includes a similar penalty and outlines procedures to be followed. It is illegal to post signs on city property or on such places as utility poles.

Requirements also include holding yard sales between certain hours of the day.

WARRANT ARREST

Arrested during the weekend on a warrant alleging failure to appear on a theft charge was Nina Peterson, 36, of Franko Lane, Rural Route 2. She pleaded innocent in a court appearance and was released on a notice to appear.

Steelworkers

chief management negotiator, cited plant closings and many failures, layoffs and financial losses.

The Wall Street Journal said Tuesday that employees of National Steel, Weirton Steel Division must accept wage and benefit reductions of as much as 32 percent over the next four years if they want to save the unit, based on consultants' opinion.

The division is located at Weirton, W. Va.

The finding came from a four-month McKinsey & Co. feasibility study of an employee purchase at Weirton Steel. In March, National Steel announced that it could not keep spending money on the facility and said it wanted to sell the plant to the more than 11,000 employees there.

The proposed sale would be the largest employee buyout on record, the Wall Street Journal said.

The McKinsey report, presented Monday to a union and management committee that paid for it, recommended an across-the-board 20 percent reduction in compensation.

It proposed an additional 12 percent cut for no more than four years. Savings from this additional reduction would contribute equity to a form of buyout called an employee stock-ownership plan.

In such a plan, workers form a company that issues its stock to a trust.

In turn, the trust seeks bank financing for the purchase by using the stock as collateral.

Employees in such arrangements typically persuade lenders to finance the buyout by agreeing to take salary reductions or defer their pay, it was explained.

In the case of Weirton, McKinsey concluded that wage reductions are essential to keep the steel operation afloat, because Weirton steelworkers, represented by the Independent Steelworkers Union, are more highly paid than members of the United Steelworkers.

Wages and benefits at Weirton average $24.68 an hour, about $2 an hour more than the USW average; that labor premium dates to the 1930s, when the company successfully prevented a USW predecessor from organizing Weirton Steel, the Wall Street Journal said.

The McKinsey report doesn't recommend any immediate reduction in employment levels beyond trimming the number of salaried employees.

By the late 1980s, however, the report expects hourly employment to fall to 7,000 through attrition. Weirton Steel currently employs about 8,400, with 2,600 on layoff.

McKinsey emphasized that the 32 percent reduction figure is relative to current industry compensation; should other steelworkers agree to lower their wages and benefit rates, Weirton must follow.

With the steel industry currently clamoring for wage reductions, further cuts beyond what McKinsey recommends may prove likely, it was asserted.

The study further assumes $1 billion in capital investments at Weirton over the next decade.

Those investments would include installation of a continuous caster, the most sophisticated method of making semi-finished steel, and upgrading existing plant and equipment.

Through these measures, McKinsey concluded, Weirton Steel could at least maintain and possibly increase market share in the hotly-contested container industry.

About half of Weirton's products are tin sheet and go to container markets, with the rest of its output sold to many other markets.

The McKinsey study also assumed no reduction in current funding for pension benefits. But a separate study of the pension liabilities won't be completed until the second week of August, union officials said Monday.

Once that study is completed, the union expects to begin negotiations with National Steel on actual sale of the plant.

Campaigning by Bailey

Hance Bailey of Granite City is beginning his campaign as the Republican nominee for sheriff of Madison County, citing his nearly 25 years as a police officer and detective with "one of the nation's best police departments," the Granite City police.

For the past seven years, Bailey has been a Madison County adult probation officer.

He told the Press-Record Wednesday he plans a positive campaign focusing on his experience and his proposed policies as sheriff. Bailey favors the concept of two officers per patrol car wherever feasible, and believes a key reason for high crime rates is the "repeater."

He favors work requirements for those serving sentences, rather than emphasis on their comfort and recreation, and believes this would be a deterrent to the repeating of crimes.

Bailey will be attending many meetings of groups as the Nov. 2 election nears and plans to outline additional policy proposals.

$9,022 award to employee; GC Journal must bargain with union

Madison County Associate Judge Jonathan Isbell ruled Monday the Granite City Journal must award $9,022 to former Journal editor Alice Curless-Gibson.

The breach of contract suit was heard in East Alton.

Also on Monday, a decision received by Robert A. Steinke, executive secretary of the St. Louis Newspaper Guild, upheld a November 1981 order that the Journal must begin negotiations with the Guild.

The original ruling by Administrative Law Judge Arline Pachl was upheld by the full National Labor Relations Board in Washington. She determined that the Journal, owned by Donnelly Publications, had tried to "root out any union support" among its staff.

She ordered the Journal to negotiate with the union, and prohibited threats to employees.

Steinke said, "We're delighted with the NLRB decision. We've always said the paper's actions were improper and this bears out on every point." Further appeals, if filed, would go to federal courts.

Steinke said the Guild is asking the Journal to set a date for talks to begin.

The NLRB order followed a 19-count complaint alleging threats and firings. The order concluded that employees' rights had been violated.

A spokesman for the Madison said he had no comment on the ruling being upheld by the NLRB or on whether it would be appealed.

In her suit, Mrs. Curless-Gibson sought actual and punitive damages as a result of her dismissal Oct. 21. Her daughter, Jane Curless, and two other employees also were dismissed the same week.

Two of those former employees received out-of-court settlements of $3,732 and $3,015, after they filed charges with the National Labor Relations Board.

The paper also was ordered to post a notice for 60 days outlining the rights of employees under the National Labor Relations Act.

In her suit, the former editor charged that the Missouri-owned paper, represented at the trial by President and Publisher Daniel Donnelly and by Charles Kircher, adviser and counselor, failed to abide by a one-year contract which would have extended until June 1982.

The judge ruled that Mrs. Curless-Gibson has not proven punitive damages. Isbell has now given her and her attorney, Leon Scroggins, 14 days to submit a reason punitive damages should be awarded.

She was appointed editor of the Journal in June 1981 after editor George Williams was dismissed along with the paper's sports editor and advertising manager.

The turnover in personnel has been heavy, affecting several departments.

Obituaries

Vera Carpenter

Mrs. Vera Lee Carpenter, 64, of Portland, Ore., formerly of Granite City, died Thursday, July 22, 1982, at a hospital in Portland. She had been ill for several years with diabetes.

Born in Granite City, Mrs. Carpenter had resided here until 1945, when she moved to California to make her home. She met and married Nelford T. Carpenter there and they later moved to Portland.

While living in this area Mrs. Carpenter was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Survivors include her husband; one daughter, Mrs. Sandra Lee Olson of Portland; and a twin sister, Mrs. James (Vivian) Davis of Granite City. Her remains were cremated in Portland.

GC council actions

Among Granite City Council discussions and actions during Tuesday's session were the following.

Resigning finance committee Chairman Paul Bowler, Seventh Ward, called for a special 6:30 p.m. Aug. 3 council caucus to begin preliminary discussions on the next property tax levy. This year's $2.5 million city levy remained the same as last year. Some aldermen are expected to seek an increase to help shrink an expected budget deficit.

The council reversed itself and rescinded a motion barring all city employees from accumulating time off for time worked over their normal work week. Fifth Ward Alderman Jake Varadian said there had been a misunderstanding as to the intent of the original motion, which was to have been directed at department heads.

Newly appointed finance committee Chairman Walter Milton, Sixth Ward, has designated 11:30 each Tuesday morning in the mayor's conference room for his committee sessions. Committee meetings are open to the public.

Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk continued his campaign for a city minimum housing standard ordinance by showing aldermen pictures of an out-of-town landlord-owned property allegedly being allowed to deteriorate in a residential section.

Fisk, departing negotiations chairman, said street department employees have joined the list of those objecting to a proposed new sick leave ordinance, which would require a medical report before excusing an absence.

salary increases for city employees.

Some questions were raised in the public hearing prior to the regular City Council meeting concerning the allocation of revenue sharing funds.

The Rev. John Henry Williams, president of the Venice Park Board, sought to have some revenue sharing diverted to aid in operating the Venice Park District, a request which was not included due to legal technicalities.

A question was raised concerning the practice of having two senior citizens' groups in the community, both financing to some extent with a $15,000 grant from shared revenue, and whether money could be saved through combining the organizations.

"Wouldn't there be a cost saving to the city if the senior citizens were together?" Rev. Williams asked.

"I don't know if there'd be a saving, dollarwise, but it would be a beautiful thing if it could be done in a spirit of cooperation and a spirit of happiness," Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols responded.

A woman in the audience objected to the idea of combining the senior groups, noting, "There are 16 people in our club and sometimes 100 attend a special event. If we combined the two groups the center wouldn't be large enough to hold us."

"I don't know about this business of going this way and that way. We might get a center for all of us if we join together," Rev. Williams countered. He also questioned the ethics involved in use of federal money to fund separate organizations. "I know everybody hates to deal with what I'm saying now and I realize some whites won't want to join together and some blacks wouldn't, but what happens when you are dealing with federal funds?" he asked.

The mayor said the money in question is not distributed on a "black or white basis."

Mayor Echols commented, "Hopefully, when we get a new community center, there will be ample room for senior citizens. We live here together and I would hope that we could be together."

"I, for one, would like to see it happen, but I also face reality and see the way things are—even in this room," the mayor added.

In the federal revenue sharing budget of $21,305 approved Tuesday night, the major portion of funds is to be spent on police protection and salaries, totaling $158,305.

Other amounts specified are: ambulance service, $15,000, senior citizens and retired persons $15,000, emergency services (civil defense) $2,500, city building repairs $10,000, demolition of buildings $5,000, street department labor $5,000 and administrative costs, $500.

The balance in the fund is $143,050 and an estimated total of $68,255 is expected to be received during the fiscal year ending April 30, 1983.

Last year's revenue sharing budget totaled $169,536. All the amounts remain the same in the new budget with the exception of police department salaries, budgeted in 1981-82 at $118,536. Few differences were noted in the city's new $1,277,847 operating budget compared to last year, with most funding categories remaining the same.

Six areas are up slightly and two are reduced. Anticipated raises in utility costs account for the largest increases.

A breakdown of city funds, with the new budget figures, last year's amounts and the difference listed in sequence, follows:

Streets and alleys—$211,764, $210,864, up $900; police officers' fees, salaries and expenses—$90,282, same; legal department—$14,410, same; insurance—$71,800, same; printing—$2,650, same; sanitary and health, $8,260, same.

City hall, $50,974, $48,974, up $2,000; auditing—$4,000, same; lighting of public streets—$24,000, $17,000, up $7,000; water—$300, same; fire department—$83,896, same; garbage collection—$105,396, $112,396, down $7,000.

Police pension fund—$82,593, $79,828, up $2,765; public library—$44,485, $58,115, down $13,630; Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund—$85,000, same; emergency services (civil defense)—$2,500, $2,650, up $150; services for aged—$15,000, same; public health—$15,000, same; planning and zoning, $1,000, same; and contingency fund, $35,000, $15,000, up $20,000.

increases this year without promised increases next year—a provision the council has thus far not accepted.

The budget also makes no provision for funds to start the city's stalled paramedic program. The program would have allowed instant communications between the city's ambulance crews and St. Elizabeth Medical Center personnel for on-the-scene emergency monitoring and instruction.

Under that program, city emergency medical technicians, who have already received advanced paramedic training, could have administered lifesaving techniques involving equipment and medications that are now lacking in the present system.

The budget also contains no funds to reinstate four police dispatchers who are on layoff status. Decatur was unsuccessful in persuading the council to bring back the workers in exchange for cutting school crossing guards.

The alderman said that by requiring policemen to man the dispatcher's post, the work of the department is being impaired.

Alderman Bowler and Seventh Ward Alderman Michael Modrusic were the only two aldermen who voted against the city's $8.2 million general budget. Both also opposed the $2.15 wastewater plant budget.

They did, however, approve of the city's $621,000 shared-revenue budget and $485,500 ambulance budget.

Bowler and Modrusic pointed to the expected deficit as the central reason for their negative general budget votes.

Bowler cited the city's 17 percent unemployment rate as an indication that the council should further tighten the budget before passing it. This week was the deadline for budget adoption.

"I just don't think people are going to keep giving," Modrusic said. "We just keep going and going and going."

Modrusic, who has fought any raise in the residential sewage treatment fee until an independent study confirms that necessity, said he has no ready-made solutions to offer for the city's financial problems. He added that he had expected more of a debate on the council floor on the various appropriation items.

Venice Council okays new health, building inspectors

By VALERIE EVENDEN

of the Press-Record

In response to numerous complaints by residents and aldermen about hazardous and unhealthy conditions around several dilapidated houses and other unkempt property in Venice, Mayor Tyrone Echols kept his promise to appoint additional building and health inspectors at Tuesday night's meeting of the Venice City Council.

The council confirmed his appointment of Roland Wilson, 919 Fourth St., and Joe Brooks, 1132 Douglas St., to the posts of building inspectors and John E. Erection, 215 Granville St., as health inspector.

A letter of resignation was accepted from James D. Sands, who has been serving as building inspector.

A letter of resignation was accepted from James D. Sands, who has been serving as building inspector.

This week's session was no exception when Kenneth Mueller, 608 Washington Ave., suggested the Press-Record push an invitation to area residents to "visit the new Washington Forest at 7th Street and Washington Avenue."

Mueller said the area has not been cut in three years and stated, "There is young grass, trees and grass flourishing in an area along the Venice High School fence."

Fourth Ward Alderman John Ervin said an unused city street continues into the area described by Mueller and the nearby field is full of large rocks, requiring use of a bulldozer in order to clear it. The city does not have such equipment, it was stated.

"You aldermen want the citizens to beautify our city, but you won't cut down the weeds when we ask," Mueller charged. Mayor

Woman grabs lurking youth, shot in wrist

Tobias Maxey, 44, a cook at Cho's Chop Suey restaurant, 145 Madison Ave., Madison, suffered a gunshot wound to the left wrist when a weapon she was holding discharged as she was attempting to grab a youth at the rear of the business place at 1:26 a.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Maxey was in the kitchen area when she heard glass breaking and saw a tall man grab her purse from the floor and run out of the door. She obtained a pistol and went outside the rear of the restaurant, where she saw a second person.

She was grabbing at the youth when the gun discharged, hitting her in the wrist. Despite the wound, she managed to hold onto the boy, later found to be 13 years old, until Venice police arrived.

He denied being involved in the theft of the purse and was released pending further investigation.

Mrs. Maxey reported calling another department for help but said no one answered the number she reached.

Downtown Bible School set Aug. 2

The annual cooperative Vacation Bible School under the auspices of the First United Presbyterian Church and St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, will begin on Monday, Aug. 2, at 9 a.m., according to the director, Linda Watson.

Sessions will be held each day from 9 to 11:30 a.m. at St. Peter's Church, 2101 Cleveland Boulevard. The final event will be an open house from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. Friday, Aug. 6, the director added.

Pre-registration will be taken at both churches Sunday morning or Monday prior to the initial class. Area children from age three through the sixth grade are invited to attend the one week school.

The theme this year is "Come Follow Jesus" and will be a study of the Apostles and their relationship to Jesus. Each day there also will be crafts, games and refreshments.

Echols promised to look over the property in question.

Vernell Jackson, 413 Lincoln Ave., voiced a strong complaint about persons creating a public nuisance at the rear of a package liquor store on Broadway.

"I'm getting tired of people doing this and tired of looking at it from my patio," Jackson said. When advised to contact police upon observing such actions, Jackson said, "I may just take care of the problem myself."

Mayor Echols announced that a pre-construction conference, relating to repair of the traffic underpass on Broadway, has been set by the Illinois Department of Transportation for Monday, Aug. 2, at 9:30 a.m. at the district office, 9000 St. Clair Ave. He urged anyone interested to attend.

The underpass has been closed since the pavement beneath collapsed following heavy rains July 11.

McKinley Bridge traffic from Madison and Venice is now routed over Klein and Bissell streets to Route 3. Prior to the emergency closing, the subway was scheduled for repairs sometime in August.

At the mayor's suggestion, the aldermen agreed to invite a representative from a cable television service to return to a meeting and provide additional information on a proposal to establish cable television in the community.

Mayor Echols said several people have inquired about the project's status and noted that cable TV currently is being installed in Brooklyn.

Questioned about the cost to residents, the mayor recalled that a figure of $14 or $15 per month for each installation earlier was given by a spokesman for the same company.

"We need to be making a decision and I would like as many citizens as possible here when the representative makes his presentation. There may be questions you may like to ask him yourself," He added that a date for the talk will be set soon.

In other action, the council discussed—

—Legal action to be taken against slum landlords and others who disregard the occupancy permit ordinance.

—Amending the city vehicle tax (city sticker) ordinance to make clear where the sticker should be displayed on a vehicle.

—A complaint about ambulance service being provided on an interim basis by Officer Funeral Home, East St. Louis. It was said the firm was unable to respond to a call. Aldermen briefly discussed the possibility of Venice training firemen and operating its own ambulance service.

The council tabled action on a building permit until the applicant removes debris from the property where a new structure is planned.

Mayor Echols spoke about a new formula for Community Development funding through which Venice may receive a larger share. He also said more information is being sought about insurance liability relating to the proposed employment of youths on probation.

Third open heart surgery for Jerin

By MIKE MOORE
of the Press-Record

"One of the things keeping Jerin going is knowing that his name and picture are going to be in the Press-Record. He even told the paper boy to look for his name," said Mrs. Gail Holder, mother of Jerin Holder, a six-year-old who this week underwent his third open-heart operation.

"Everybody treats him super nice here at the hospital. The nurses are very nice to me and some of them are very pretty," Jerin said. "I'm not famous, but everyone acts like I'm a celebrity."

The Granite City was admitted to St. Louis Children's Hospital Monday and his third open-heart surgery took place yesterday morning. "I feel okay," Jerin said bravely as he left for the hospital.

Elsie, a women's softball team, and husbands and friends of the players, making up a men's team, are to play a doubleheader, with all donations going to Jerin and his family. The games will be played Aug. 7 at noon in Worthen Park.

"We all want to help Jerin as much as possible," Kevin Higgins, coach of Elsie's, said.

"It's great to know that

there are such good friends when you really need them," Mrs. Holder said. "I'm grateful to everyone who has helped us during these trying times."

"We really won't know what Jerin's condition is until well after the operation. He knows what is going on, but if he's a bit scared he sure doesn't show it," Wally Holder, his father, said.

Like most children, Jerin has a dream of growing up and becoming someone special. "I wanna be like Superman," Jerin said, adding, "I like E.T. a lot, too. He was funny in the movie."

Madison ethnic event this week

By ANGELA GRUPAS
of the Press-Record

The Madison Fire Department is sponsoring the seventh annual Madison ethnic festival, which will take place on the grounds of the Madison Memorial Center near Eighth Street tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday.

The three-day event will be filled with activities for the entire family, featuring carnival rides for the children and young-at-heart, dancing for the older folk, arts and craft stands for those ready to buy wooden furniture and craft items, and booths filled with food for young and old alike. These are just a few of the activities planned.

Russian food prepared by the Nativity of the Virgin Mary Orthodox Church, Mexican cheese nachos by a citizen band radio club, and Italian sausage by the Italian-American Club.

Funnel cakes will be made by the Little Rascals football team, Tri-City Knights of Columbus will run a fish stand, and church members will serve sloppy Joes.

The Madison City and Democratic Auxiliary will operate both a soda stand and a plant stand, and a West Madison dance troupe will be serving corn on the cob and watermelon.

"All of the activities will begin Friday in the late afternoon," said Madison Fire Chief Mike Macke. A highlight of the festival is expected to be the varied arts and craft items available to interested persons, it was noted.

Entertainment will begin at 2 p.m. Sunday, with the Horizons on stage until 6 p.m. and Vince's International continuing the music from 6 to 10 p.m.

Madison area organizations will be providing different types of ethnic and American food. The Croatian Hall football team will have a lamb and ice cream stand. Barbecued pork steaks, hamburgers and hot dogs will be provided by Madison firemen.

Ethnic dishes will include Russian food prepared by the Nativity of the Virgin Mary Orthodox Church, Mexican cheese nachos by a citizen band radio club, and Italian sausage by the Italian-American Club.

Funnel cakes will be made by the Little Rascals football team, Tri-City Knights of Columbus will run a fish stand, and church members will serve sloppy Joes.

The Madison City and Democratic Auxiliary will operate both a soda stand and a plant stand, and a West Madison dance troupe will be serving corn on the cob and watermelon.

by Steiner that many utility users consume less energy now than previously and yet are forced to pay more. Other speakers added their own stories about turning down thermostats only to encounter higher gas and electric bills.

Steiner said Rate One users, who consume the least amount of energy, would be forced to pay $9.50 per month. Heavy users, Rate Three, would pay $15.50 per month as opposed to $10.10. He added that the utility says inflation has forced increased rates, but "IP expects to earn $160 million this year. This is a company in financial straits."

The issue of meeting future and present needs also was addressed by Steiner, who said, "IP has 25 percent more electrical generating capacity than ever used."

Speakers who followed emphasized the statistics Steiner and Vadalabene presented, and each had his or her own approach to the rate issue. Virginia Onkle, wife of a former A.O. Smith Corp. employee, said she now supports the family by working 20 to 24 hours a week for minimum wages. "I'd like to introduce myself as the budget manager of the Onkle household," she said.

While Mrs. Onkle started on a light note, she became serious as she told of her family's economic plight. "My husband has looked all over for a job. There are none to be found. We do all right until the winter."

It took the Onkles three paychecks to pay a winter utility bill last year. "But I paid it. I cried all the way there and all the way back."

Many of the speakers represented the 17 percent who are unemployed in Granite City. Several of those who have jobs said they felt fortunate to be working. Pay cuts were a big issue at the hearing.

National Lead employees just signed a contract with no pay increase. Why? For the same reason I would do it. To keep the job they have," Richard Ballew said.

Speakers voiced concern that they would not be receiving increases in income and yet would be forced to pay higher utility rates. The irony was not lost. "I can't overpay and have someone bail me out. So why should I bail IP out?" Ballew asked.

The IP representatives appeared the most uncomfortable when asked if disabled persons spoke. Juanita Crawley went to the front of the hall on crutches.

The thermostat in the Crawley home was turned down last winter, but the heating bills were the same as when it was on 72 degrees, she said. "I have heart trouble and I have to have the air conditioning on in the summer. It's been on all this month. I dread the next bill," she told the gathering.

John Mangiaracino of Venice told of an experience he had after receiving a $102 utility bill. He measured his rooms and closets and then went to IP.

"They said, 'We'll see what the computer says.' I said, 'To heck with the computer, look at the paper,' referring to the measurements.

"There used to be three classes—rich, middle and poor. But there's no middle anymore. We're all poor," Mangiaracino said.

"They'll (politicians) all have to answer to the good Lord when they go. Then we'll see who's right and who's wrong," he said in conclusion. The crowd cheered and applauded.

Elmer Sullivan also had a disheartening experience. He said he turned his thermostat down to decrease the gas bill. "I got the next bill and it was higher."

Sullivan went to visit IP to try to get it straightened out. "Two days later, they came out and changed my electric meter. I never mentioned electric to them," he said.

Although most of the speakers related their own problems, Billie Bosworth, a member of the Madison School Board, presented a unique view to the ICC and the audience.

Mrs. Bosworth expressed concern that churches would be affected by the increase in utility rates: "If people can't pay utility bills and make ends meet, the churches are in trouble." She said parishioners would not be able to contribute, forcing churches to close. Schools were also a concern of Mrs. Bosworth. She said most people would agree that children deserve an education. "You got your education," she said as she looked at the ICC and IP officials.

She is worried that increased utility bills would have a drastic effect on schools in this area. "We have to be able to beat those schools and light these schools," she said.

Mrs. Bosworth was not the only point of view geared toward future generations. Fear of nuclear power was expressed by Raymond Pitts, who said he was a Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce member, once experienced a nuclear test blast. He lived to talk about it, but not without suffering.

Pitts said he has a blood disease and other problems as a result of radiation exposure. "Radiation is a killer. Shut down your plants," he urged the Illinois Power representatives.

Similar pleas came from other speakers. One of the last to talk was Ed Rogers, who traveled from Belleville because he missed an earlier hearing there.

"This is your big chance to see how compassionate politicians are by seeing how your pleas here are handled," he said.

Rogers turned to the ICC representatives and said they were from IP. "We're from the ICC," Lippa said. "I wrote you a letter." Rogers replied quickly, "I hope you read it. But I'm very cynical. I never get answers to letters I write."

"I hope we break our streak of not listening," Lippa said.

Resolutions opposing the rate hikes were presented. Casper Nighossian, Madison city attorney, spoke on behalf of Mayor Mike Sasyk. Various Granite City aldermen and Mayor Paul Schuler spoke. Jeff Worthen, vice-president of the Granite City Park Board, read a resolution from that group.

Tim Earley of the Illinois Public Interest Research Group, located at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, presented the ICC with resolutions from Venice and Wood River.

"This is the absolutely largest turnout I've seen in this state for a hearing," Earley said.

He presented a rebuttal to comments made earlier by an IP executive. Earley advised him, "Get into a new business. IP is not humanitarian."

He also said a study found IP could charge lower rates to small-volume users and to those on fixed incomes but that the study has been ignored by the state.

Along that line, Earley stressed that elections are coming up and said he was angered because "most people think the ICC is a rubber stamp. Most people want ICC officials to be elected, but they (IP) ask how. The implication that voters don't know what the heck they vote for really makes me mad."

He stressed the need to choose officials who are concerned with utility rates. He pointed to Governor James Thompson's purported comment that increases are needed because people use too many appliances. "That shows his shallow knowledge of the energy problem in the state. The governor is clearly pro-utility all the way. But his opponent, Adlai Stevenson, has never said a word on utility increases."

Earley said Stevenson's lack of comment means he does not believe utility rate hikes to be an important issue.

The problem, he said, "is where to go from here. We hold hearings like this and get large crowds. You all go home and feel good about what you did. It is necessary, he emphasized, for people to continue to show concern over the next few months."

"Vadalabene was here but he typically left before he heard a word," (Vadalabene excused himself after he spoke, saying he had another meeting to attend, in Wood River.)

Earley urged the people to attend similar meetings with elected officials and candidates.

"We've got to have these people pushing for us in Springfield. The battle is not over tonight. This was just a change of the ICC to hear people. Chances are this won't be listened to, if even read," Earley said, citing voluminous transcripts taken during the hearings.

After the hearing, IP and ICC officials stayed to answer questions from the public. Few of those in attendance remained.

Lippa said after the hearing that he probably will not present his recommendation until "toward the end of the year."

The process of reviewing testimony and evidence presented at public hearings will take quite some time, he said. "Nothing will be done before all the hearings and evidence are complete."

He said letters from utility rate payers to the ICC will be accepted as evidence, and added that briefs will be prepared when all available evidence has been gathered.

The recommendation from the ICC will not necessarily be completed after the November election, but it is possible it will take that long or longer. "I don't see the recommendation being completed before November," Lippa said.

Earley said completion of the recommendation after Nov. 2 is not, in his opinion, a political ploy.

"The process takes 11 months. They (IP) didn't present the proposal until February. I don't think it's a hedge," he said.

The rate hike proposal could be the biggest issue come election time, he said. "No other issue in Granite City could draw this many people."

Still, Earley said, he believes IP will receive some sort of rate hike. "I'm disgusted. I expect they'll probably get the lion's share of what they asked for, considering the track record of the ICC."

He said there is hope, however, that an ICC official will be fired or leave between now and the time of the rate hike decision. A similar situation occurred last year and a commissioner who was "pro-consumer" was appointed to the ICC. Three commissioners voted for last year's utility rate hike and two voted against it, he said.

Earley fears that if Michael Hasten, or someone with similar views, remains as chairperson of the ICC, a rate hike of some sort is inevitable "because the ICC believes what IP says."

TRAFFIC CHECKDOWN

While operating radar this week, Granite City police halted Charles E. Johnson, 30, East St. Louis, at 20th and Omaha and charged him with speeding and driving while his license was suspended. They then learned of a St. Clair County warrant alleging failure to appear on a traffic violation. He was released to the custody of a St. Clair deputy sheriff the same day. A large volume of traffic arrests occurred here this week.

200 at Madison Amvets installation

Several Illinois Amvets state and division officers were present at the annual installation ceremonies for the new officer corps of Madison Amvets Post 204 and Auxiliary held during the weekend at the Madison Lions Home, 910 Madison Ave., Madison.

Among more than 200 members and guests attending the installation were Amvets State Commander Frank Gudgeon of Chicago and Auxiliary State President Phyllis Dever of Bloomington.

Earlier the same day at the Amvets Post Home, 1242 Iowa St., representatives from posts in the Amvets Fifth Division met.

State Commander Gudgeon and Lee McMullen, retiring commander of Post 204, also visited the new memorial marker and flagpole presented by Post 204 in honor of all Madison veterans, which is located at the recently dedicated David Connoille Alpine Village Shopping Center at Third Street and Madison Avenue.

Mrs. Glenda Brockman of Granite City, Illinois Amvets Auxiliary state sergeant-at-arms, presided at the installation of Auxiliary Unit 204 officers and a candlelight dedication ceremony.

Those installed were: Pat Hartman, president; Evadine Gravelle, first vice president; Kim Hartman, second vice president; Audrey Mabius, secretary; Norma Diak, treasurer; Betty Kesterson, sergeant-at-arms; Karen Martin, chaplain; Nell Holshouser, scholarship chairman;

NEW OFFICERS. Commander Vasil C. Gravelle of Madison Amvets Post 204 and Mrs. Pat Hartman, Amvets 204 Auxiliary president, following their installation at the Madison Lions Home. About 200 members and guests attended the joint ceremonies and a dinner-dance.

Mae Jean Adams, parliamentarian; Hazel Modrusic, SOS chairman; Hilda Gravelle, public relations and historian; and Carolyn Gerlach, hospital chairman.

State Commander Gudgeon installed Post 204 officers for the ensuing year. They are:

Vasil C. Gravelle, commander; Stan Skubish, first vice commander; Dave McClelland, second vice commander; George Nishke, third vice commander; Bill Vavra, adjutant; Frank Schoenhoffer Sr., historian; Nick Vasiloff, legal officer; Andy Angellof, finance officer; Frank Schoenhoffer Jr., membership officer; Harry Mabius, service officer; Hank Lopez, insurance director; Bill Papa, sergeant-at-arms; Dorothy Wheeler, chaplain. Dinner was served preceding the installation and the evening was spent dancing to the music of the "Just Because" band.

During the quarterly meetings of the Amvets Fifth Division and auxiliary units at Post 204, reports were presented from all member posts.

Herb Miller of Madison, Fifth Division commander, and Lois Shoemaker of Mount Vernon, Fifth Division auxiliary president, were in charge of the business sessions.

Special guests were State Commander Gudgeon and Mrs. Dever. The latter, only recently installed as state auxiliary president, spoke on the current status of the auxiliary and its future goals.

Those participating in the quarterly sessions then adjourned to Madison Lions Home for the installation dinner-dance.

Art exhibit opens here this week

An art exhibit featuring paintings, drawings and photography will be presented by the Granite City Art Guild at the mini-library (branch) at 6 Namecki Village.

The show will premier July 28 and will continue through Aug. 10. Artists from Granite City's guild will display paintings using a variety of mediums including, watercolor, oil, acrylic, ink, pencil, charcoal, pastels and photography. Landscapes, still life and portraits will also be featured.

The guild has been in existence for four years and provides the advancement of civic and cultural interests pertaining with visual arts and crafts within Granite City and the surrounding area; and the stimulation of public sentiment to these ends; and the providing of such social features as will promote these purposes, the president explained.

Membership in this guild shall be granted to those in sympathy with its purposes. Several workshops are offered each year to provide instructions in painting and drawing, club officers added.

Regular meetings are held on the third Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. at Central Christian Church fellowship hall. Parking and entrance is at the rear of the building. For more information call 876-8905. Visitors are welcome.

Aged a state budget priority

Peg R. Blaser, director of the Illinois Department on Aging, noted Tuesday that the department is one of only a few state agencies receiving an increase in fiscal 1983 appropriation.

Signed by Governor James R. Thompson, July 22, the department appropriation totals $67.5 million.

"We are pleased that we have continued to climb the elderly as one of the state's priority areas," she said. "Illinois is one of the leading states in terms of its network of services available for persons age 60 and over."

The appropriation includes a $23.5 million allocation for the state's Community Care Program, a $2.1 million increase in state support.

"This increase will allow us to provide in-home services, including homemaker, chore-housekeeping and adult day care, to 11,000 clients per month, an increase of 1,000 clients compared to last year," the director related.

"Initiated in 1980, the Community Care Program has grown by almost 200 percent. Its purpose is to help older people remain in their own homes if they don't need to be placed in a nursing home."

In addition to state funding, the Department on Aging appropriation includes nearly $40 million in federal Older Americans Act funds. The department distributes these funds to the state's 13 area agencies on aging, which in turn allocate it to communities.

Auto license decal deadline

Secretary of State Jim Edgar has reminded automobile owners with July license plate registrations that midnight Saturday, July 31, is the deadline for displaying the new orange 1983 stickers.

"The license plate renewal stickers may be purchased over the counter at all facilities in Springfield and Chicago," Edgar said, "or they may be purchased at 1,200 banks and financial centers participating in the license renewal program."

The new 1983 sticker should be displayed in the upper left corner of the rear license plate. Beginning Sunday, Aug. 1, anyone driving an auto with an expired brown July 1982 sticker will be subject to a fine for improper registration.

For questions regarding license plate registrations, the secretary of state's toll-free telephone number is 800-252-8960.

BLAZE IN MATTRESS

The Long Lake fire department was dispatched to a fire at 35 Fairway Estates in Arlington Heights early this week. The blaze apparently started in the rear room of a second-floor apartment, possibly in a mattress. The residents were not home at the time and the damage has not been estimated.

One in 5 had some unemployment in '81

A total of 23.4 million persons, or nearly 20 percent of those in the labor force, encountered some unemployment during 1981, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported this week. The number was two million higher than the previous year. The number of persons employed also increased. Altogether, nearly 117 million persons worked all or part of the year during 1981, one million more than in 1980.

Of these, 65.3 million, or 56 percent of the total, worked full-time the year-round. Year-round full-time employment continued to increase for women, advancing by nearly half a million to 23.5 million, but dropped slightly for men.

These numbers reflect the changing economic picture of 1981. During the first half, the economy was recovering from the 1980 recession; during the second half, it was slipping into another recession. The 1981 data show that women with year-round full-time work had median earnings of $12,345, about 60 percent of the median for men, which was $20,593.

The median earnings of both groups were about nine percent higher than in 1980, but declined about one percent after adjustment for inflation.

The 23.4 million persons who encountered some unemployment in 1981 represented 19.5 percent of all persons in the labor force for at least one week.

This proportion was higher than the 18.1 percent in 1980, but below the 20.2 percent peak of 1975. For men and all blacks, however, the proportion with some unemployment during the year equalled or exceeded the previous highs.

Among men, the proportion with some unemployment during 1981 was 20 percent, the same as in 1975. Among women, the proportion was 19 percent, still below the 1975 peak of 20.5 percent.

Men were not only more likely to become unemployed, they generally remained unemployed longer than women.

For blacks, the proportion encountering some unemployment in 1981 — 30.5 percent — was up from 28 percent in 1980 and even higher than the previous peak of 29.5 percent reached in 1975.

By comparison, the proportion of whites with unemployment rose to 18.3 percent in 1981, up from 16.9 percent in 1980 but still down from 19.1 percent in 1975.

For Hispanics, the rate remained largely unchanged over-the-year at 24 percent. Blacks were also unemployed longer than either whites or Hispanics. The median number of weeks of unemployment was 15.3 for blacks, 13 weeks for whites and 14.5 weeks for Hispanics.

Many of the 23.4 million persons who experienced joblessness did not work at all during the year. Their number rose by 266,000 to 2.9 million.

The other 20.5 million persons with some unemployment had worked during the year. The median duration of joblessness for this group increased from 13 weeks in 1980 to 13.3 weeks in 1981.

The proportion of unemployed workers with two or more periods of joblessness also increased in 1981 to 34 percent from 32 percent a year earlier.

Employment continued to grow slowly in 1981. A total of 116.8 million persons 16 years of age and over worked all or part of the year, a million more than in 1980.

Since population growth outpaced job growth, the proportion of the population working during the year edged downward for the third straight year to 68 percent.

For men, the proportion who worked continued a fifteen-year decline and — at 79.7 percent — reached its lowest level since the beginning of the records in 1948.

For women, the proportion with employment was essentially unchanged and remained near the all-time high of 58 percent reached in 1979. And the proportion of women working full-time year-round continued to increase.

The proportion of blacks who worked during the year also reached an all-time low of 60.7 percent. For black men, the proportion dropped to 68.6 percent, four percentage points lower than in 1978.

The proportion of whites and Hispanics working during the year remained largely unchanged at 69 and 66 percent, respectively.

The median annual earnings of wage and salary workers employed at full-time jobs all year long rose to $20,593 for men and to $12,345 for women.

For both groups, the 1981 median was about nine percent higher than the median for the previous year. Thus, there was no change in the ratio of the average annual earnings of women to those of men, 60 percent.

After adjusting for inflation, the median annual earnings of men and women declined by about one percentage point relative to 1980, as the Consumer Price Index for Urban Wage Earners and Clerical Workers (CPI-W) rose by 10.2 percent from 1980 to 1981.

Annual earnings of black and Hispanic workers continued to be much lower than those of white workers. The median for white men employed at full-time jobs all year was $21,067 compared to $14,988 for black men and $14,953 for Hispanic men.

For white women who usually worked full-time year-round, the median was $12,476, compared to $11,166 for black women and $10,725 for Hispanic women.

Lillian Taylor has surgery in Georgia

Mrs. Lillian Taylor, formerly of Granite City, underwent major surgery the past weekend. The family would appreciate notes and cards being sent to her.

The address is: Mrs. Lillian Taylor, St. Mary's Hospital, Athens, Ga. 30606 or 137 Beatham Drive, Athens 30606.

Mrs. Taylor was owner-operator of Lillian's Beauty Shop in her home at the corner of 22nd Street and Cleveland Blvd. for a number of years.

In recent years, she has been the administrator for a nursing home, the Fulton Manor at Fulton, Mo. from where she resigned two weeks ago in order to accept the position as house mother at a college sorority in Georgia.

She had planned to vacation with several of her children at a local beach. However, she became ill and surgery resulted.

Her children are Dana Jane, Ernie, Tina, Sheila and Priscilla. She has eight grandchildren.

Leave restaurant minus hitchhiker

Three men in a group of four who ate a meal at the International House of Pancakes, 1509 Pontoon Road, at 4:15 a.m. during the weekend left the restaurant without paying an $18.78 bill despite efforts by an employee and customers who tried to stop the trio from leaving.

The fourth man, John Murphy of Pekin, Ill., who was left at the restaurant, said the men had picked him up at 1:27 and 1:70 while he was hitchhiking and had departed with his backpack and camping gear in the vehicle.

The men got into a vehicle and headed west on Pontoon Road.

Amsted cuts dividend due to downtrend in sales

Amsted Industries Incorporated has announced that sales in the nine months ended June 30, were $476.9 million, down $170.2 million or 26 percent, from the same period a year ago.

Amsted owns the American Steel Foundries in Granite City.

Earnings amounted to $12.5 million, or $1.16 per share, down from $41.3 million, or $3.82 per share.

Net income amounted to 26 percent of sales compared to 6.4 percent a year ago.

Robert H. Wellington, Amsted president, said the reduction in earnings was primarily the result of lower sales volume.

Income was favorably affected by about $3.2 million in lower pension costs.

For certain pension plans, the amortization period of prior service costs was increased from 10 to 30 years and annuities were purchased at favorable interest rates to cover the liabilities for retired employees.

Income also was favorably affected by about $1.8 million from the reduction of inventories valued on a LIFO (last-in, first-out) basis. This method values most of the inventory at less than current costs and results in a favorable impact on profits when inventory quantities are reduced.

In the three months ended June 30, sales amounted to $156.6 million, down $54.4 million from the same period last year.

Net income was $6.7 million, or 62 cents per share, compared to $12.9 million, or $1.18 per share.

Mr. & Mrs. Isaak names son Devin

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis (Linda) Isaak, 737 27th Place, are announcing the birth of a son, Devin Mathew, on July 19.

The child weighed seven pounds and 12½ ounces and was born at Oliver C. Anderson Hospital in Maryville. He has a brother, Jason, 14, and a sister, Elaine, who is nine years old.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John (Ginger) Howland and Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Isaak all of Granite City.

The mother is the former Miss Linda Wagner of Granite City.

ADMITTED TO SEMIC
Jerry McClanahan, 24, of 2722 Harding Blvd. was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center during the weekend with injuries sustained in an auto accident. He reported having been unconscious and was suffering abrasions to both arms and legs and pain in the forehead, left knee and shoulder and right elbow.

Net income in the June quarter amounted to 4.3 percent of sales compared to 6.1 percent in the comparable period last year.

In the nine months, railroad product sales of $168.3 million were down $129.0 million, or 43 percent, reflecting the low level of freight car building and reduced demand for repair components.

Construction and building product sales amounted to $150.6 million, down $22.7 million, or 13 percent. Sales of all products in this category were lower than last year, with the largest decreases in pressure pipe for water transmission and precast metal.

Sales of general industrial products were $158.0 million, down $18.5 million, or 10 percent, from last year. The decrease primarily reflected lower sales of mechanical power transmission components and fillers.

Following is a comparison of the pre-tax operating income generated by each of the product categories for the first nine months of the 1982 and 1981 fiscal years. The pre-tax operating income shown for each category is based on sales less operating expenses before allocation of general corporate expenses, interest income and gains on the sale of investments.

Net allocated items amounted to an expense of $1.4 million in 1982 and an income of $200,000 in 1981.

Lower interest income in 1982 and the 1981 gain on the sale of an interest in a Mexican railroad products manufacturer were major items causing the variance from last year.

Railroad products earned $2.1 million, ten percent of Amsted's $21.1 million in 1981-82; construction products, $6 million, 29 percent; and general industrial products, $13 million, 61 percent.

In the same order, nine-month 1980-81 figures were $45.6 million and 59 percent, $10.3 million, 13 percent, and $21.3 million, 28 percent.

The decrease in operating income for all product segments was due largely to lower sales volume.

Price weakness was also a factor in railroad products. Substantial cost-cutting measures somewhat mitigated the decline, it was noted.

Wellington said additions to property in the nine months were $33 million. Present plans call for expenditures for property additions of about $45 million in fiscal 1982.

Projects include completion of a new railroad wheel plant near Columbus, Ohio, as well as capacity additions at existing plants for increased production of freight car trucks, wheels and couplers, locomotive wheels, water pipe products, roller chain and piston pins.

Working capital at June 30, 1982, was $124.7 million.

Current assets, including cash and short-term investments of $33.9 million, totaled $206.3 million. Current liabilities were $81.6 million.

Inventories were $85.6 million, down $12.5 million or 13 percent from the beginning of the year.

There was no short-term or long-term debt, and none is anticipated during the balance of the fiscal year.

Wellington said Amsted's backlog of orders on June 30 was $149 million. This compares to $252 million a year ago and $225 million on Sept. 30, 1981.

The backlog for new and repair freight car components was $44 million, down $61 million from a year ago and down $32 million from September.

Unfilled orders for construction and building products were $45 million, a decrease of $10 million from a year ago and $7 million from the start of the fiscal year.

The backlog of orders for general industrial products was $60 million, down $43 million from a year ago and down $37 million from Sept. 30.

For the last quarter of fiscal 1982, Wellington said the outlook is for a continued low level of earnings, compared to last year.

An oversupply of certain types of freight cars in service, the depressing effect of high interest rates, and a soft economy are factors affecting the short-term outlook.

Meeting in Chicago, the board of directors of Amsted declared a quarterly dividend of 40 cents per share, payable Sept. 15 to stockholders of record as of the close of business on Aug. 20.

This is a decrease from the 62 cents per share paid in June 1982.

The company stated that the reduction was made because of the continuing soft demand in the markets it serves.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson

Wilson-Robins

Miss Tammy Robins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Robins, 3557 Reverses Route, became the bride of George Wilson, son of Mrs. Evelyn Wilson, 1301 Rhodes St., in a double ring ceremony on July 9, at the home of the groom's mother. The honored couple have two daughters, Mrs. Kevin (Georgette) Rainwater of Granite City and Colette Tanksley, who resides at home.

They are members of Trinity Park Tabernacle Church, where they were married July 6, 1957, by the Rev. R. D. Shaw.

Tanksley is employed by McDonnell-Douglas as an electrician.

Mrs. Davidson is honored

A baby shower given in honor of Mrs. Ronald (Debbie) Davidson of Granite City at the home of her mother, Mrs. Ella Hosea, 2201 Grand Ave. Assisting with the social event was the honoree's sister, Linda Wood.

Approximately 25 guests attended and were served refreshments after the guest of honor opened her gifts. Games were also played and prizes awarded to the winners.

Shower fetes Miss Snelson

Miss Pamela Snelson, an August bride-elect, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous bridal shower given last week by Mrs. Edna Newman and Mrs. Irene Folden, an aunt and cousin of the prospective groom, at the home of Mrs. Felen in Godfrey, Ill.

The buffet table was decorated with a lace tablecloth over pink and a matching lace umbrella adorned with pink lace flowers and ribbons served as the centerpiece. Pink and white checked gingham packages tied with bows and gold toned wedding rings with helium filled balloons were placed throughout the home.

Games were played and prizes were awarded to the winners. The bride-to-be was assisted in opening her gifts by her bridesmaids, Kristy Whitaker and Lori Lane, and Karl Winters, sisters of the groom.

The hostesses served hors d'oeuvres and cake to Mrs. Ron Snelson, mother of the bride-to-be, Mrs. Neil Winters, mother of the prospective groom, Mrs. Marie Griffin, grandmother of the honoree, Mrs. Ruth Townsend and Mrs. Helen Winters, grandmothers of the groom-elect, Mrs. Ruth Baker, Jean Hopperath, Mrs. Doris Bachteler, Jean Bischoff, Judy Crews, Angie Mitchell, Jean Snyder, Rose Richardson, Maureen Richardson, and Mary Ellen Felden.

Miss Snelson and Jeffrey Winters will be married Aug. 21 at the First United Presbyterian Church.

Former residents mark anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Donna) Lorentz of Galena, Kan., formerly of Granite City, were honored at a surprise reception given in the Fellowship Hall of the Free Methodist Church in Pontion Beach. The social event was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Paul (Vera) Lynn, 2949 E. 25th St., parents of Mrs. Lorentz.

The Rev. Carroll Morris, pastor of the Free Methodist Church, officiated at a renewal of wedding vows ceremony.

The honorees' daughter, Dawn, presided over the guest book. Their other daughter, Mrs. Dan (Robyn) Choate, resides in Alba, Mo. All guests were served anniversary cake and punch including approximately 45 guests from Granite City.

Those attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lorentz, Bunker Hill, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Willford Lane, Collinsville, Mrs. Irene Coyle, Decatur, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finley and sons, Tom, Tim and Jeffery, Mr. and Mrs. Stokes, Mount Carmel, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. James Wolfe, Lawrenceville, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. James Robertson, Arnold, Mo., Mrs. Tessie Minor and the Rev. and Mrs. Richard Schultz all of Alto, and the Rev. and Mrs. Carroll Morris and family of Galena, Ill.

INVESTED. The Third Order of St. Francis in ceremonies held at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Madison. From left, Mrs. Cecelia Trachsel, director of formation, and novices, Mrs. Christine Ahlvers, Mrs. Mary Lahey, Mrs. Ann Pieper, and the Rev. Frank Kordek, F.M., pastor of the host church and spiritual director of the group.

Investiture ceremony at St. Mary's Church

Quod-City residents were invested into the Third Order of St. Francis, Secular Lay Group, in ceremonies conducted at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Madison. The Rev. Frank Kordek, F.M., pastor of the host church and spiritual director of the order, officiated at the formal ceremony.

Novices received into the order were Mrs. Christine Ahlvers, Mrs. Mary Lahey and Mrs. Ann Pieper.

Music for the event was provided by George Stenitzer and assisting with the affair were Mrs. Pat Vitale, president, and Mrs. Cecelia Trachsel, director of formation.

Guests attending were Sister Mary Williams, C.D.P., Sister Mary Ann, C.D.P., Sister Stefanie, C.D.P., Stan and Eleanor Kubiak, Jane Kozielek, Cindy Thompson, Margaret Risk, Joan and David, John and Gerry Pieper and 19 practicing laywomen.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church hall.

Auxiliary aids Shelter Care home

Jenny Kidwell, junior vice-president of Community Service and Child Welfare of Amvets Auxiliary 51, presented a report on the ice cream social, given in honor of the residents of the Edwardsville Shelter Care Home and also reported on the items given to care home patients through a $600 grant from the Illinois Amvets Service Foundation, at a meeting of the organization, held last week.

Items purchased by the club included two television table sets, two folding picnic tables, one card table, an adjustable blackboard, three razors, two coffee makers, one trash container, three large bath tub mats, fruit baskets for all patients, 12 packages of hair rollers, paper cups, plates and other party supplies. Five packages of film and flash cubes and other items to be used for game prizes.

In other business Barbara Siebert, senior vice-president, read the Amvets Auxiliary preamble and the definition of Americanism.

She read a note of appreciation from Mary Ann Bricker of the U.S.O. located at Lambert Field, for the snack and drink items donated by the auxiliary for the servicemen who pass through St. Louis Lambert Field.

Betty Wilkins, Barbara and Jaymie Siebert, Charlotte Torregrossa, Alberta and Ida Manninger, Linda Stroud and Ann and Floyd Tucker presented the above mentioned articles and also organized the ice cream social, it was announced.

Members who donated food and clothing to a family whose home was destroyed by fire during an electrical storm, were accorded appreciation for their assistance.

Mrs. Siebert, membership chairman, urged members to renew their dues for 1983 as soon as possible, during the session.

The group agreed to distribute small American flags to all residents of the Shelter Care Home after the ice cream social. Mrs. Wilkins, Americanism chairman, presented Granite City with a new American flag which will be flown over city hall during special holidays, it was noted. The flag was a gift to the auxiliary from the Amvets Auxiliary National, Margaret Runnel.

The president announced a fish fry will be held on Friday, July 30, from 4 to 9 p.m., at the Post Home, 5100 Lakewood Drive.

Two new members were initiated into the auxiliary. Parliamentarian Betty Clements presented Donna Warfield and Linda Stroud a copy of the Amvets Auxiliary by-laws.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Alberta Manninger was presented the white elephant cash prize, which she donated to the child welfare fund.

Eta Chapter marks 50th anniversary

Eta Chapter of Phi Tau Omega Sorority celebrated its 50th anniversary at the installation of officers dinner last week at Charlie's Restaurant.

The chapter was organized on March 20, 1932, and has been active in civic and philanthropic projects through the years. Many of the chapter's members served as national officers including Hilda Schroeder who was national president 1950-51 and Mary Hassler who was national president 1964-65.

Dinner was served to 25 active, honorary, and alumnae members among those present was charter member, Mrs. Helen Hoelscher, who helped to organize the Eta Chapter.

Mrs. Hoelscher has been a member of the Alumnae Chapter since 1942.

Mrs. Jan Mohr, national recording secretary, was a guest of the chapter and participated in the installation ceremony. The officers installed were Kathryn Weddell, president; Martha Ruth Thomas, vice-president; Mary Evelyn Yench, recording secretary; Shirley Morgan, social secretary; Mary Hassler, treasurer; Hilda Schroeder, associate scribe; Dorothy Costello, sergeant-at-arms and Eunice Hatcher, historian.

Attendance prizes were awarded to Dorothy Costello, Betty Lou Harris, and Irene Hayes.

Rally and revival at Tri-City Tabernacle

Evangelist Bob Gass of Ackworth, Ga., will be conducting a three day rally and revival at Tri City Park Tabernacle Church, 3400 Maryville Road, beginning Sunday morning, Aug. 8; at 10:45 a.m. and continuing through Aug. 10 it was announced by Rev. Jim Parks, pastor of the Tabernacle.

The series of lectures will be conducted at 7 p.m. Aug.

8, 9 and 10 at the church, in Ackworth, Ga., will be morning service. A native of Belfast, Northern Ireland, Gass began preaching at the age of 13. He began his ministry in America at the age of 18, and since that time has been involved in various aspects of the ministry. He has traveled extensively throughout the United States as a minister, and from 1969 to 1981 pastored Pentecostal Assembly in Bangor, Maine. At that time he became a full time evangelistic minister and travels throughout the United States.

He is frequent guest host of the PTL Club and is the host of his own television program, "Celebration," airing nationwide. Gass is the author of such books as "How to Know the Will of God," "How to Get Your Prayers Answered" and "The Healing Memory."

"He has a unique way of communicating the message of Jesus Christ," stated Rev. Parks. The three day event is free of charge and the public is invited to attend, Rev. Parks added.

New Salem Baptist galaxy of fashions

New Salem Baptist Church will present a Galaxy of Fashions on Sunday, Aug. 1, at 6 p.m. at the Venice Recreation Center, 325 Broadway, Venice, coming to the Rev. John Henry Williams, pastor.

The event is under the direction of Anna R. Claggett and her committee including, Louise Anderson, Metro M. Pierson, and Sandra Williams.

Admission to the style show is set at $4 and during the evening prizes will be awarded and refreshments served, according to the minister.

Jill Kinder attends Girl Scout event in New Jersey

Jill Kinder, member of Cadette-Senior Girl Scout Troop 328, returned from a trip to New Jersey for a national Girl Scout Wider Opportunity event. The Holly Shores Girl Scout Council sponsored the event, entitled "Magical Melodies." The two-week event was based at Glassboro State College and focused on songs of the Girl Scout heritage.

For the musical part of the event, the girls were divided into groups named "do, re, mi, fa, so, la," and "ti." Each group worked on a number of songs which were taped. Each girl and her council will receive a copy of the tape. Jill attended workshops on rounds and canons, music and nature, musical instrument building, dance of the 1600's, and the story of Juliette Low.

Jill learned about various careers involving music, and there was a visit to a sound-stage to learn how music is taped. The George Britten Folkingers entertained the girls and encouraged them to consider composing music. They stressed the fact that each person is unique and has something special to contribute to the world.

While Jill was the only scout from River Bluffs Council to go to "Magical Melodies," twelve other girls from River Bluffs, including three others from Troop 328, will participate in "Wider Opportunity" events this summer. The girls apply for the events in the fall and receive notification if they are accepted in February.

Jill will be a freshman at Granite High South this fall. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kinder.

NIGHT AID ADVICE—The Belleville Area College Financial Aid and Placement Office will be open until 8 p.m. on Aug. 3, 9 and 12 for the convenience of students. The normal hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Summer meeting of Granite Chapter

Two petitions for membership were submitted and accepted by Granite Chapter 650, Order of the Eastern Star, during a summer session conducted by Worthy Matron Vee Throne at the Masonic Temple.

A committee to complete arrangements for new members was appointed by the worthy matron and included Yvonne Lipchik, and Mary and Earl French.

Secretary Betty Ebrecht reported the chapter now has 427 paid members for the current year. Those listed as being in ill health were Ruth DeLoe, Pam Vasquez, Zula Cruse, Edna Brown, John DeHart, Loren Worthen, Gene Hancock and John Wood.

Summer time is a good time for a home energy inspection

Check out air conditioning, caulking, weatherstripping.
Get an Illinois Power home energy inspection.

Illinois Power's heaviest electric demand is during the summer, in periods of maximum air conditioning usage. Energy-efficient operation of air conditioning requires attention to good insulation and weather-tight doors and windows.

An Illinois Power home energy inspection, done in your home, will tell you how your house stacks up in energy efficiency.

The cost is just $15.00. A trained expert from Illinois Power will make a computer analysis at your home and explain recommendations for improvement then and there.

Summer time is a good time to join the National Energy Watch program and a good time to make home improvements which can save energy.

Remember, saving energy is a year 'round business. The $15.00 you invest for this voluntary home inspection program could save you a bundle.

Garden course at GC library

The home gardener, a class to teach basic gardening skills, will be offered at Belleville Area College during the fall semester as an independent study course in conjunction with BAC television courses.

The class will be on videotapes for students to view at the library of the main BAC campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, or at the Granite City public library, 2001 Delmar Ave., Granite City.

Home gardening introduces students to expert horticulturists and entomologists and gives them an opportunity to see unusual botanical gardens and nurseries.

Topics covered include soil preparation, landscape design, vegetable cropping and hanging baskets. Students also learn about plant nutrients, watering, planter mixes and transplants, greenhouses and container gardening.

Schooley had role in GC's golden age of sports

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

The golden age of sports? One of the most apt answers, I presume, to that provocative question would be the ten years in which I was coming of age... from 1920 through 1930.

It was the decade in which Babe Ruth made almost twice what the United States president, the taciturn and tight-lipped Cal Coolidge did; the 10 years which produced the first million dollar gates as Jack Dempsey and the scholarly Gene Tunney pummeled each other; it was the period when our state's (Illinois) fabulous Harold (Red) Grange, in turning pro and leaving the ranks of Illini, baled out the infant game of professional football; a time when Big Bill Tilden dominated tennis like our own Jimmy Connors does now along with John McEnroe; an age when little Helen Wills completely overshadowed the women's field in tennis and many, many others including our own state's Harold Osborne from up in the nearby coal fields (Hillsboro, Bend, et al) and competing for the Illini became the first human being to high jump over six feet.

Now, ye gods, even the women are high-jumping seven feet.

But, that's beside the point. The question is: when was the golden age of sports? I believe it is any period when an individual comes of age and sees his generation excel in sports.

His story is about a man, Bill Schooley, who surely played a key role in the golden age of Granite City sports: The decade from 1940 through 1950.

In that 10-year span Granite City won its only Illinois High School basketball championship led by the nonpareil Andy Phillips.

And, in 1947, under the coaching of Lawrence McCauley, the Warriors' baseball team won its first state championship.

Those two state championships were enough to qualify the '40 through '50 decade as the golden age of sports in Granite City, even, I maintain, matching the almost unbelievable five straight state girls' soccer championships posted by Coach Gene Baker and his kickers.

But, in the climate of the times, the Southwestern Illinois High School Conference crown in football won by Bill Schooley and his teammates in 1946 was the clincher, I submit, to making the Forties the golden age of Granite City sports.

The claim in football doesn't diminish the luster of the gridiron deeds turned in by Pat Rich and Len Davis in the late Twenties one wit.

As I sat in Bill Schooley's law firm office downtown in Granite City and talked with him about his career, my mind sped back to a night, a very cold night in 1946 when I rode the old Illinois Traction car over from St. Louis to cover a very important high school game for the Star-Times.

The game was played on the Forties field (football) field where, roughly, the South gym and Coolidge Junior High is now. And, as I said, it was COLD. The wind was blowing, I know, 20 miles per hour and I grabbed a spot on the Granite City bench. And, since it was before the days of wind chill factor, it nevertheless must have been 20 degrees (or at least I thought so) below zero.

It's funny what one's memory will do to you. But, now almost 40 years ago, I thought that the Warriors had dealt the powerhouse East St. Louis High Flyers a 6-0 defeat and had thus won their first conference championship since the days of Davis and Rich.

In my memory, Schooley at one of the halfback slots, had ran and passed the Warriors to its stunning upset victory over the Flyers. Not so, the record shows. I had covered, instead, the Warriors' 6-0 victory over the Belleville West eleven, which in its annual Thanksgiving Day battle with East Side, had beaten the Flyers, I think by a 6-0 score. The Belleville triumph over East Side, plus the Warriors' victory over the Maroons, gave Granite City its much-deserved conference crown.

The following spring, Schooley drew an appointment to West Point on both his athletic ability and his academic prowess. In his memory books is a Western Union wire from the Point's legendary Earl (Red) Blank, the Cadets' football coach welcoming him to the academy. He played one season and then decided to concentrate on his books. He graduated with honors, fifth in a class of 487.

In his class, in fact in his company, was the second man ever to set foot on the moon, Buzz Aldrin. Another in his select unit was now Lt. General Roscoe Robinson of St. Louis, a Soldan grad.

But, in his collection of fond memories was one which really rang the bell for me... the first ever Official Program of the Star-Times 1946 Prep Football Player-of-the-Year Award banquet, which was held in downtown St. Louis' Statler Hotel, Dec. 16, 1946. This was my assignment on the Star-Times, my baby.

Fourteen prep football players were honored that night. On the program was Harry Caray, who was just beginning his broadcasting career, and the boys' coaches and high school principals. From Granite City, along with Schooley, there was Russ Johnson and McCauley. The Goldbugs of McKinley High had the largest group of candidates, four: Sam Giano, Mike Ghonuly, Frank Hauff and Bob Logsdon. Hauff was appointed to Annapolis and played once against Schooley.

But, guess who was Belleville West's representative; none other than one of the nation's best golfers, Bob Goaly, who crowned his career by winning the Masters. He was a running back for the Maroons.

Schooley's degree at West Point was in Engineering, then and now back in Robert E. Lee's time, the most prestigious a cadet could attain.

Graduating from the Point in 1951, Schooley immediately was shipped to Korea for the "police action" assignment there. In 1953, he resigned his commission of Captain and returned home to begin his quest of a law degree, which he earned at St. Louis U. During that span of time (six years), he spent in the Army Reserves. After three years in law school starting in 1958, he worked in the office of Federal Judge Omar Pos, for the Southern Illinois District. In 1962, he went to work here in Granite City for attorneys George Moran and Bill Beatty.

In addition to playing football, Schooley starred in another sport closely identified with Granite City: wrestling. But Bill wasn't the only top-flight football player in the Schooley clan: his son, Tom, starred at the U. of Illinois and is now a law student, also at St. Louis University. Son, Jack and daughter, Cassie, are students at Southern Illinois U. at Edwardsville. Son, Rick is a machinist at McDonnell-Douglas, while William III is now clerking for Federal Judge Beatty in Alton after recently passing his Illinois state bar exam. Mother of the five young Schooleys is the former Granite City native, Marilyn R. Davis.

In 1949, in front of him is Lt. General Roscoe Robinson, who graduated from Soldan High School in St. Louis.

And, before I forget, the man who appointed Bill to West Point was Senator Scott W. Lucas.

As Bill and I ended our interview, I took a chance and asked him if he still remembered most of the fellows who played on that 1946 championship football team. With a smile, that a five-second hesitation, he rattled off the starting lineup for the Warriors. Of course, when one remembers that was before the days of platoon football teams, maybe it wasn't such a feat of memory after all.

guard; Abe Tatosian, right tackle; Carl Duigeroff, right end; Gil Georgeoff, quarterback; Bill Schooley, at left halfback; Tom Carmody, right fullback, and Maurice Jackson, fullback. The 19 or 20 other members of the squad was a little harder, but he rattled them off nevertheless but asked to be forgiven if he left anyone off.

Carl Linhart, who of course, was a key man on the mid-forties Warrior state baseball champs; Andy Clements, Pete Spirdoff, Bud Warfield, Jim Gordon, Walt Wilson, Gerry Griffith, Walter Wilson, Jim DeRuntz, Jim Tadich, Bob O'Guin, Higus Asadorian, Cliff Bell, Don Beek, Gene Grace, Norman Burnett, Wally Verbyck, Bill Seka, Cliff Bell, Don Bell, Bill Huff and Ed Whaley.

After our talks, the thing which amazed me most of all was: he has made only one trip back to the Point.

"You see," he says in explanation, "My appointment was for my football ability... and frankly, I wasn't interested in a military career although I respect, highly, those who did stay in."

Funny thing, I can still see Bill Schooley starting out as if to run the ball and then, suddenly, fading to pass the pigskin. I wonder now, was it a forerunner of Don Faurot's "I" formation down at Old Mizzou where McCauley learned his football even though it wasn't at the hands of Faurot.

At the time, the triple threat man in football was all the thing, Schooley, I know from my memory, could run and pass, however, I can't remember if he could kick the ball.

Dating me, then, I cast my vote for Granite City's Golden Age of Sports for the ten years from 1940 through 1950. What's yours?

Triplets fail 3-2; eliminated from district playoffs

HE'S THERE. Collinsville's John Graham steals second on Tri-City's shortstop Rick Dally. Dally fields a high throw during the first inning of Collinsville's 3-1 win over Tri-City Monday in a District 22 North Division double-elimination tournament game. The Triplets finished the season with a 13-12 record.

Rutkowski finishes second in tourney

At the regional soccer tournament in Linlona, Mich., July 16, 17 and 18, Granite City's Rutkowski Construction girls' soccer team advanced all the way to the final round of competition, but lost to Minnesota 3-0. Rutkowski finished second in the tournament.

"Minnesota is one heck of a team," Bill Drum, coach of Rutkowski Construction, said. "They were a good team, but we played a decent game," Drum added.

In Rutkowski's first game of the tournament, they were paired up with a Kansas team and Rutkowski won 2-1 advancing them to the semifinals.

In the semis, Rutkowski played Nebraska and won 1-0. "We won that game by a sudden death shoot out," Drum said.

ALTON — In a span of 10 days, Collinsville—and errors—defeated the Tri-City American Legion baseball team.

On July 10, Collinsville defeated Tri-City 3-2, and a week later, Collinsville won by the same score again to open the District 22 North Division double elimination tournament.

On Monday, the two teams played again, and Collinsville was a 3-1 victor in the District 22 North Division tournament. The loss ended Tri-City's season, and the Triplets finished the season with a 13-12 record.

The common denominator in all three losses was errors. In Monday's loss, the Triplets committed four errors—two of which gave Collinsville all of its runs. "We just made too many errors," Tri-City manager Al Yount said. "We died by the error all year, and that's been our biggest problem. We probably made half of them against Collinsville."

Collinsville also received a little help from an unlikely source, shortstop Jeff Lamareaux. Through the regular season, Lamareaux hit .096. That's right, .096.

But Lamareaux was a 1,000 hitter against the Triplets and was instrumental in both innings Collinsville scored.

Collinsville's Glen Hefflin reached on an error by Tri-City third baseman Rick Buer to open the second inning. Triplets pitcher Danny Patterson retired the next two batters, but Lamareaux singled to drive home Hefflin.

Lamareaux opened Collinsville's fifth inning with a single. John Wright then laid down a bunt which Patterson fielded but threw over the head of first baseman George Jarvis. Lamareaux scored on the error, and Wright went to third.

Wright scored Collinsville's other run on Kent Vaux's single.

"Instead of throwing normally, Danny threw from below, and when you throw from below, the ball's going to go over people's heads," Yount said.

The errors spoiled Patterson's fine pitching performance. Patterson, who played for Lewis and Clark Community College during the spring, gave up only three hits. He struck out three batters and kept the ball low most of the game.

"He pitched pretty well," Yount said. "He kept the ball down, and if it wasn't for the errors, he would have won."

Patterson's counterpart, Collinsville pitcher Pete Delkus, also pitched a three-hitter. He also kept the ball low. Delkus had a perfect game going for 3 2/3 innings before Collinsville left fielder Bret Holton dropped a line-drive by Patterson.

Although Collinsville committed three errors, Delkus wasn't hurt by the mistakes. In fact, Wright, Collinsville's center fielder, made diving catches which stole hits from Buer in the fourth inning and Joe Schefke in the fifth inning.

"The center fielder robbed us," Yount said. "He played one heckuva outfield with those two excellent catches."

Tri-City made an effort to get back in the game in the sixth inning. Buer hit a single. Patterson reached on an error by Lamareaux. The error advanced Buer to third, and Buer scored on Rick Dally's single.

Yount thought the Triplets' small numbers hurt them through the long Legion season. At times, the Triplets had just nine men dressed, and the starters rarely rested during the season.

"We had to play Schefke and Patterson in the field all the time beside their pitching, and everyone else had to play every day. You have to have 15-16 players with you all the time so you can give a starter some rest sometime," Yount said.

Besides the lack of rest, the Triplets had to switch the infield constantly to find a solid outfield. Yount thought that might have contributed to the number of errors made this season.

Alton wins North Division

By JEFF WILSON
for the Press-Record

ALTON — It took Alton Legion Post 126 almost 24 hours to win the North Division but in the end it was worth it. Tuesday's pitching duel between Collinsville's Dave Lambert and Alton's Mike Saaf was suspended because of darkness with a 1-1 tie after seven innings.

The game was resumed Wednesday at Gordon Moore Park, and Alton won it by District 22 North division champs. If Collinsville would have won, a second game would be played to determine the champion. The crowd didn't have to wait more than 25 minutes yesterday for a winner.

Led by pitcher Gordon Green, who retired all six Collinsville batters he faced in two innings, Alton won the game in the ninth. And Green's two out fly ball into the sun grazed off Paul Wedesky's glove to drive home Doug Urban all the way from first for the winning run.

The 2-1 Alton victory was the third in succession and the third of the year recorded by Alton over Collinsville. "You don't have to pump the kids up when you've got competition like this," Alton Manager Jesse Hopkins said. "They pumped themselves up."

With the victory Alton, now 30-7, earned the right to play south division champion Marissa. Collinsville ended the season 18-11.

Boothe defeats Legionnaires; secures second

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

KIRKWOOD, MO.—It took just five innings for Thoman Boothe to foil whatever plans Granite City had for making it into the playoffs, while simultaneously securing a second place finish in the North (St. Louis) County league.

For Granite City, the end came swiftly, but not too painlessly. The local boys suffered through five innings of agonizing baseball. Most of Granite City's problems resulted from their lackluster performance at the plate. In all, Granite City managed four hits, all singles. Boothe, however, was more successful with the bat, mustering 10 hits, equivalent to their run production. Throughout the game, Boothe was clearly the aggressor on both offensive and defense. Defensively, there was little double play in the game; Boothe monopolized it in the fifth inning to stifle an apparent Granite City score. Errors were few, but again, Boothe finished ahead of the local boys as they committed only a single miscue, while Granite City committed two.

Part of Granite City's woes began even before the start of the game. Randy Thurman, Granite City's starting shortstop, and Tom Admittis, Granite City's center fielder, did not play Monday night. Admittis was vacationing, while Thurman was unable to attend. In their absence, Granite City coach Dave Coakley had to play some players out of position.

Playing for Admittis in center field was Terry Rutawitz. Eric Goff replaced Thurman at shortstop, but those were not the only changes Coakley made. In an attempt to cut down Boothe's aggressiveness on the basepaths, Coakley started Dan Whitsell in the catcher's position in place of regular Doug Druhe.

"I knew we'd only have a chance against these guys if we could shut down their stealing game," Coakley said. "Whitsell's arm is a little stronger (than Druhe's). I hoped that would at least make them think twice before taking second," Coakley said. Whitsell usually pitches or plays the outfield for Granite City. Monday's roster change moved Druhe to right field.

It didn't take long for Boothe to test Whitsell's throwing arm. In the second inning, Whitsell proved himself as he managed to pick off Boothe's speedster Mike Thomas as he attempted to steal second. One problem did arise, however, that Coakley probably hadn't counted on in the Whitsell-Druhe swap. Whitsell's unfamiliarity behind the plate led to an abundance of passed balls. The end result: Druhe replaced Whitsell behind the plate in the final inning.

The passed balls could not all be blamed on Whitsell's inability to stop them. Granite City's pitching floundered throughout the game.

In the course of the contest, three Granite City pitchers took the mound in an effort to stifle Boothe's hitting.

Starting pitcher Jim Burton had a difficult time in the first inning, came around in the second, and then was relieved by Mark Dowdy in the third.

Burton, a knowledgeable pitcher, was tagged for two doubles in the first inning by Boothe's Thomas and Mike Ottsen. Burton gave up another run in the second when Lonnie MacInn scored on Bryan's double batted to left-center field.

Burton gave up another run and two hits in the third before Dowdy was summoned to put a halt to the Boothe's rampage. Dowdy managed to get Granite City out of the third inning, but unfortunately in the fourth inning, Boothe resumed its rampant ways, scoring five runs on two hits before Dowdy called it quits.

At that point, Jim Fletcher relieved Dowdy. Again, it was Boothe's Mike Miller who faced new Granite City pitcher. And again, the scrappy right fielder swatted a single right up the middle, his second of the evening. Fletcher, however, struck out the next two batters to strand Miller on third. After Granite City's fifth scoreless inning, many Granite City athletes seemed to wish the onslaught would end in the fifth inning it did.

With Boothe leading 9-0, they needed but a single run to prematurely end the contest by virtue of the fifth inning 10 run rule.

After striking out his Boothe counterpart, Fletcher walked lead off batter Bryan. Thomas advanced Bryan to third with a single and then, as was the case much of the game, a low pitch eluded a Granite City catcher to the fence to score Bryan from third to score the tenth and winning run.

Indicative of the nature of the Granite City's luck throughout the game, Druhe, after reviewing the ball, became entangled in the fence.

Granite City ends the season in third place with a record of 11-10.

Petrillo accepts college coaching offer

Nick Petrillo, Granite City High School South assistant football coach and basketball coach, will leave Aug. 6 to assume new duties the next day as assistant football coach in charge of defense and head baseball coach at Peru State College in Peru, Neb.

Having lived in Granite City all his life, Petrillo said he had some difficulty in deciding to leave. "There have always been reservations about leaving your home town," he said. But Peru is not a foreign area as he graduated with his bachelor of science in education from the state college 13 years ago.

Since then, Petrillo has kept in touch by doing some recruiting in this area for the Peru athletic department, mostly in football, on a voluntary basis.

He said he hopes to take some of the better Granite City football talent with him to Peru and has recruited several high school stand outs.

Obviously, moving from high school level coaching to the collegiate level is a step up and Petrillo said that it was made him decide to pack up and leave.

Peru State College is a member of the National Athletic Intercollegiate Association (NAIA) and is an independent rather than a member of a conference. In the last three years the football team has lost only three games total.

Because of the cost attendant with moving and because Petrillo will be taking a pay cut in order to further his career, he and his wife Cheri, bought a condemned house. Mrs. Petrillo has moved to Peru to work on getting the house in shape. "It will be a total renovation," he said.

The Petrillos have three children: Tony, 12, Nikki, 9, and David, 5. Petrillo said the move is at a good time in the children's lives because they are young and Tony has not yet set into junior high school life. The only problem is that he will be busied 12 miles to school.

"We told our children to prepare for a culture shock. The nearest McDonald's is 20 miles away," Petrillo said and laughed.

But the main problem now is selling their home here. "If I could get the house sold I would be thrilled," he said. But he did confess, "I'm very, very excited. I'm glad the situation arrived where I could make a move."

McDonald's, Corral square off Sunday

"So far, so good. We're in first place, hopefully we'll continue to win all the way until the playoffs," Ray Harris, coach of Inter-City McDonald's said. "After Sunday's two games I should know if we'll stay at first place or not," Harris continued.

With a record of 10-4, McDonald's is paired against its intra-city rival Corral Liquor Cowboys, 9-5, in a double header Sunday afternoon. These two teams are also playing each other in another double header Monday night to make up for the Inter-City League games that were cancelled because of a wet field. The games are to be played at Granite City High School South's baseball field.

Sunday's games are scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. and Monday's will start at 6 p.m. "We'll probably be playing until midnight," Harris chuckled.

Paddlers defeat Summer Sport; eye Montclair

The Paddlers' swimming and diving teams both won their seventh meet of the season Tuesday against Summer Sport leaving each undefeated going into tonight's final meet against Montclair of Edwardsville, also undefeated. The swimming team broke 10 records winning 46-209. The diving team won 45-26 and finished with several high scores.

In tonight's meet, at Montclair, has been predicted to be the toughest of the season by both Gayle McCormick, diving coach, and Celeste Sonnenberg, swimming coach.

Mrs. McCormick and Miss Sonnenberg each anticipate that Montclair will have a large, well-rounded team. The divers have a slight disadvantage because they will be on an unfamiliar board. "It will make them more nervous," Mrs. McCormick said. Despite the added pressure of performing in a different pool, Miss Sonnenberg said that Montclair also has a meter pool "so the kids will be kind of used to their times."

Both coaches had anticipated a harder time with Summer Sport. Miss Sonnenberg said she suspects that some of the swimmers were on vacation. "I was very much surprised (by the outcome)," she said. "They had a lot of strong kids, but not as many stronger swimmers."

Paddlers' swimmers have been instructed to "go for good times and concentrate on good strokes" rather than worrying about beating a particular swimmer. The problem, Miss Sonnenberg said, is that Paddlers' swimmers competed against Montclair swimmers all winter.

"The problem for the divers is that Montclair will have all its age groups filled while Paddlers has no divers in the 15 to 17 boys age group which means Montclair will automatically gain eight points in that category."

"(The meet against Montclair) will be the real clincher," Mrs. McCormick said.

The divers will compete in the Southwestern Illinois Swimming Association (SWISA) championships on July 31 starting at 9 a.m. at the Sunset Hills Country Club in Edwardsville.

The swimming team will compete in the SWISA championships on Aug. 6 starting at 8:15 a.m. at Bellefontaine in St. Louis, Mo.

Paddlers' diving results were: Boys eight and under, Tom Senczyn, first with 61.25 points. Girls eight and under, Jenny Baker, second with 64.10 points.

Boys 11 and 12: Mike McCormick, first with 92.55 points and Tim Voyles second with 76.20.

Girls 11 and 12: Heather Crane, first with 103.25 points and Wendy Knollman, second with 98.25 points.

Boys 13 and 14: Mark Doniff, first with 127.20 points. Girls 13 and 14: Chris Doniff, first with 123.45 and Michelle Loftus, second with 119.95 points.

Girls 15 to 17: Kathy Zeugin, first with 167.90 and Michelle Sikora, second with 139.45 points.

New records set by Paddlers' swimmers were:

Fifteen to 18 boys, 100-Meter Freestyle: Shawn Allen, 59.71. Old record: 1:00.09 since 1968.

Fifteen to 18 girls, 200-Meter Medley Relay: Cindi Strotheide, J. Lynn Hankins, Denise Darrell, Lisa Jennings, 2:29.01. Old record: their own, 2:30.01.

Eleven and 12 boys, 50-Meter Freestyle: Mike McCormick, 32.88. Old record: 33.4 since 1976.

Thirteen and 14 boys, 200-Meter IM: John Amisch, 2:38.50. Old record: his own, 2:39.44.

Eight and under girls, 25-Meter Breaststroke: Jenny Baker, 22.69. Old record: her own, 22.80.

Fifteen to 18 girls, 100-Meter Breaststroke: J. Lynn Hankins, 1:27.17. Old record: her own, 1:27.26.

Thirteen and 14 boys, 100-Meter Backstroke: John Amisch, 1:14.10. Old record: 1:18 since 1970.

Fifteen to 18 girls, 100-Meter Backstroke: Cindi Strotheide, 1:16.03. Old record: 1:17.9 since 1978.

Eight and under girls, 25-Meter Butterfly: Jenny Baker, 18.53. Old record: her own, 19.24.

Eleven and 12 boys, 200-Meter Free Relay: Dave Baker, Collins Harlan, Vince Darrell and Mike McCormick, 2:19.53.

Civics win over E'ville; ready for playoffs

By AL BARNES
For the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE.—The Southwestern Illinois Civics closed out their regular season here last night with an impressive 6-0 victory over the Edwardsville Nationals.

It was the last warmup session, really, for the Civics as they prepare to resume their quest for the championship of the Missouri National Baseball Congress tournament this weekend at Maryville College, Saturday and Sunday. They have already won two games in the double elimination meet and will play the St. Louis Sotolars, Saturday at 12 noon.

With the shutout victory over the Nationals, the Civics ran their record to 26-17-1, and if they sweep their next two games they'll advance to the national finals of the NBC August 6 through the 21st at Wichita, Kansas.

The Civics' player-manager, Bobby Hughes, gave five of his hurlers short workouts in an effort to sharpen each for the tournament. Lanky lefty Tom Kloeckner started and was relieved in the fourth by Jess Gass in the fourth. Then came two inning stints by Vince Broderick, Tim Heaters and Jerry Deml.

Batting star for the Civics was their outfielder-first baseman, Darrell Wehrend. In the bottom of the eighth frame and with the score 3-0 in favor of the Civics, Wehrend hit a 0-2 pitch by hard-throwing Nationals' second pitcher, Bill Hubbard, and the ball jumped off his bat into and over the centerfield fence with two men scoring in front of him. Jim Schell, a southpaw who starred last year and this past spring for the SIUE Cougars, started on the mound for the losers. Jim Greenwald, who has been on a torrid hitting streak, hit in his seventh straight game by leading off the second frame for the winners.

Three of the Illini's wrestling recruits were named to Amateur Wrestling News' prep all-America squad. Dan Motta, a 158-pounder from Waukegan, was a 10-0 selection. Doug Younger, a 142-pounder from Mahomet, and Venice Stigler, a 167-pounder from LaPorte, Ind., were honorable mention picks.

Smith, Gundaker win Tri-City features

Bo Smith and Kevin Gundaker shared feature events at the Tri-City Speedway in the Late Model Stock Cars, as Tom Corbin and Kenny Schrader shared top honors in the Winged Sprint Car competition, Wednesday.

Smith started out the night in the first spot of the rained-out feature event of July 3rd for a balance of 13-laps. Gundaker started last spot and on the ninth lap Smith over the lead from Smith's No. B-7 1982 Firebird and went the rest of the way for the win of $1,000 first place. Then in the regular program the feature was a different story as young Smith started on the front row pole and jumped out into the lead and went the full 20-laps for the win, finished one-half lap ahead of Kevin Gundaker from St. Louis, and Smith from St. Charles, Mo.

In the Sprint Cars it was Corbin who won the 25-lap make-up rained-out feature of July 3rd.

Driving the No. 22 Sprint Car, Schrader came all the way from the last row and was running third, when his front nose wing came loose and had to settle for fifth.

BACK FROM MEXICO. Scott Stone, left, and Kurt Atkinson, both 12, from Granite City, recently returned from Mexico City where they competed with the RKO Soccer Club of Belleville in four games during the Barza Futbol International Invitational Exhibition Tournament. RKO played four games, against Mexican teams and was 2-1-1 during the trip, July 1 to 11. The team has a 7-0-1 record playing in Granite City, a 63-5-2 league record and a 74-6-3 record overall. Stone is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry (Beverly) Stone and Atkinson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard (Janice) Stone.

Sports of all Sorts

Of golf . . . and reminiscing

By AL BARNES
For the Press-Record
One of the biggest dangers in the writing of a column of this type is, for obvious reasons, the looking back with too much fondness at athletic events which occurred many years ago. And, at the same time, gauging every sports figure and event of the present day as somehow inferior, or not coming up to the high standards of the past.

One of the most frequent criticisms of two of my favorite people and fellow sports columnists, Bob Brog of the Post-Dispatch and Bob Hines of the Democrat I've heard, is that they tend to "live in the past."

Early this week, before the dew had evaporated off the grass on the back nine at Arlington Golf Course, I "swaid" the course with one of my 11 grandchildren, William Alvin Early, the son of Patrick and Patsy, my Billie, as we all call him, is a wiry 16 years old and can belt the golf ball a mile. He has a very good chance, according to his coach at Granite City North, Russ Chappel, of pacing the Steelers to another conference championship and, this time, to capturing the District Crown in the spring of 1983.

Working this summer for Bill Edmunds and Terry Tessery at Arlington, Billie has had an opportunity to sharpen his game. After following him over the back nine, I can see that he very definitely has possibilities. But, early on that morning, as he teed-up on the 10th hole, I could see that he was having problems concentrating because of my watching him. And, too, I was anxious that he perform well.

As I bit my nails in anxiety, I had the clear thought and insight, a flash, I'm watching the future right here in front of me. I could see Billie, if he progresses as he has every expectations of doing, teeing off down in Augusta, Georgia, in the Masters Tournament. And, 72 grueling holes later, being helped on with the Blazer emblematic of that great honor.

I asked myself why I was nervous? Jees, I've covered literally thousands of athletic events involving both individuals and teams, but I found myself trembling with a desire that Billie would blast . . . successfully . . . that ball down the fairway on the par four, 370-yard hole.

Finally, with a powerful, fluid motion, he hit through the ball and, in a Grandpa's opinion, it was no doubt the most beautiful shot on that course on that day. Or, for that matter, of all time.

Not so! Billie wasn't happy with it. "I was to the right," he gritted through clenched teeth.

And, as frequently happens in a sport like golf, the tendency to have his tee shots veer to the right, bothered him all through the holes to the 18th and he ended up nine holes over par. He wasn't happy.

The women were playing on the front nine, so I didn't get a chance to see what Billie could do on it, but I'm sure that, after his original nervousness of his Grandpa watching him that he would have settled down and shot par or nearer to it.

But, about the future and Billie's and my plans for me to "manage him on the pro tour," I have to be honest with myself . . . and Billy.

It is a long, long way from a Grandfather's fond dream of his grandson going on to achieve stardom in the sport of golf and the actual achieving of it. There is so many things which can go wrong. His further discovery is the already well aware of them) of girls and other interests lie like booby traps in front of Billie and his dreams of becoming a star on the pro circuit.

The No. 1 decision he must make now . . . and stick to it . . . is to decide to devote at least four hours a day to practicing various parts of his golf game. Like a concert pianist, he must be prepared to give up that precious time necessary to become the very best.

Good Luck, Billie. I'd be down there at Augusta rooting for you.

Martial Arts exhibition

In celebration of the American and Korean centennial anniversary of goodwill between the two countries, the American Professional Tae Kwon Do Association (A.P.T.A.) will sponsor a full-contact Tae Kwon Do matches at Augustine's Restaurant in Belleville this Saturday, July 31.

Promoters are calling the event, which includes The Oriental Martial Arts Grand Masters Exhibition, "one of the most spectacular full-contact Tae Kwon Do matches seen by anyone." Invitations for the event were sent to both President Ronald Reagan and Illinois Governor James R. Thompson. Although, each are unable to attend, both offices have forwarded letters of enthusiasm.

As part of the competition, two U.S. APTA champions will square-off against two Korean KPTA champions for 10 rounds. There will also be two eight-round matches for U.S. titles and two five-round matches for title ranking. Tickets in advance are $7 for adults and $3 for children. Tickets may be purchased at the door, however adult tickets will be $10 and $7 for children. Rigid tickets are $15.

Locally, tickets for the 6 p.m. event may be purchased in Granite City at Choi Brothers School of Discipline located at 3675 Nameoki Rd. Yong Duk Choi is general secretary of the A.P.T.A.

Quad-City Soccer Association plans organizational meeting

The Quad-Cities Soccer Association announces that divisions have been formed to include girls and older boys in its soccer program.

Beginning with the fall season, scheduled to begin on Saturday, Sept. 11, a girls recreation and competitive division is planned. The recreation program will consist of girls under 8 through under 19. The competitive division or "traveling teams" will consist of girls under 12 through under 19.

The boys will also offer a recreational program for under 16 and under 19. The competitive division will consist of under 12 and under 14 boys to begin in September and under 16 and under 19 to begin at a later date. An organizational meeting for the competitive girls teams will be held Monday, Aug. 2 at St. Elizabeth's Church cafeteria at 8 p.m. Boys competitive division meeting will be Wednesday, Aug. 4, at St. Elizabeth's Church cafeteria at 7:30 p.m.

The boys and girls recreational teams that are interested are invited to attend the Quad-Cities Soccer Association's regular meeting to be held at the YMCA on Tuesday, Aug. 3, at 7:30 p.m.

Any further information you might be interested in can be obtained by calling the Quad-Cities Soccer Association at 877-1282.

Daily preps for all-star grid game

Rick Daily, a 1982 graduate of Granite City High School South, will be one of 85 athletes who will head up to Illinois State University this weekend for the Illinois Shrine All-Star Football Game to benefit the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children and Burns Institutes.

Daily, a member of the East All-Stars, will report for training camp Aug. 1, to get ready for the game, which will be played at 7:30 p.m.

Saturday, Aug. 7, at Hancock Stadium on Illinois State's campus. The game is sponsored by the Illinois Shrine and the Illinois Coaches Association. Last year, the event raised an excess of $125,000 for the Shrine institutions. Daily, a 200-pound wide receiver for the Warriors, lead the St. Louis area with most receptions and total yards gained as a receiver. He was coached by Jerry McKeahan.

Larry Davis of Mt. Carmel High School will head the East team's coaching staff, while Rich Zinnanni of Kankakee (Bishop McNamara) will lead the West team's coaching staff. Last year, the East topped the West 10-0.

Keeping cool when it's too darned hot

By MARY RICHARDS

Illinois Department of Public Health

In periods of extended hot weather such as we are having now, we are in danger of being victims of the heat.

There are basically two types of serious heat-related illnesses.

Heat exhaustion is caused by over-exertion in extreme heat. The overload on the circulatory system, as it works to carry enough blood to cool the skin, results in a mild shock condition which the victim experiences as a weakness or extreme tiredness.

The victim's face becomes pale, and the skin feels cold and clammy. There is usually heavy perspiration and shallow breathing.

If you, or someone you are with, displays these symptoms, get medical attention immediately.

In the meantime, assuming you are waiting for medical help to come to you, lay the patient on his back in as cool a place as possible. Lower the patient's head slightly and loosen the clothing.

Heat stroke is caused by overexposure to the sun. The victim has probably ignored the symptoms of heat exhaustion. And the body's cooling mechanism — sweating — then broke down and stopped working.

As a result, the body temperature begins to rise to as high as 106 degrees or more, and irreversible damage may occur.

Heat stroke is serious, so watch for these symptoms: the victim's face becomes red and dry, the skin is hot, and the body temperature is high. The victim's breathing may be slow and noisy.

Prompt medical attention is essential. Take the patient to the nearest medical facility, if possible.

If not, lay the patient on his back in a cool place — preferably an air-conditioned room. Sponge the skin with alcohol or lukewarm water.

To help avoid heat exhaustion or stroke, increase your fluid intake.

Water, fruit juices or drinks with fruit bases — such as lemonade — are recommended.

Tea, coffee and alcohol often act as mild diuretics, and this increases the loss of body fluids.

Consult your doctor before taking salt tablets. Salt can dehydrate the body, too.

Stay in air-conditioned places as much as you can. In homes without air-conditioning, fans should be used, or windows should be opened to increase air circulation.

Avoid strenuous physical activity. If this is impossible, take frequent rest periods in the shade.

If you want more information about heat exhaustion or heat stroke, contact your doctor or the Illinois Department of Public Health, Division of Disease Control, 535 W. Jefferson, Springfield 62761.

Preparations for '82 state fair Aug. 5-15

Varied entertainment attractions have been arranged for the 1982 Illinois State Fair in Springfield Aug. 5-15.

The pre-fair Western horse show will conclude with sessions tonight through Saturday. Horse show officials expect this to be the biggest such show ever held on the state fairgrounds, with a total of 1,500 horses entered.

The number of applications received in pre-registration indicates an overall bigger show this year with more Appaloosa and quarter horse entries in particular, according to Diane Rushing of the Western Horse Show office.

Frankie and the Knockouts will headline a rock music jam at the fair's grandstand show Friday, Aug. 6, for a 6:30 p.m. performance.

Krokus will share the headline spot. The rock jam also will include music by The Guess Who and Elvin Bishop.

Tickets can be obtained by writing the State Fair Ticket Office, P.O. Box 576, Springfield, Ill. 62705. Tickets are also available at the grandstand from 8:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Visa and MasterCard purchases will be accepted by telephone and tickets mailed to the patrons. Those interested may call 217-785-1979. Ticket prices are $7, $6 and $4.

The state championship tractor pull Aug. 6 and 7 will offer everything from garden tractors to antique tractors competing for $36,000 in premiums.

The tractor pull is sanctioned by the Illinois Tractor Pulling Association and is open only to members. It will be held in front of the grandstand.

Free admission, prizes, refreshments, train rides, daily entertainment, games, contests and style shows will be highlights of the new Senior Center throughout the fair, Aug. 5 to 15.

An air-conditioned facility at the east wing of the Emerson Building provides senior citizen fairgoers with a center. All 60 years and older will be admitted free into the fair.

Senior citizens are provided with daily entertainment at the center and ribbons and certificates will be awarded daily in various categories.

An old-fashioned circus will continue through the fair's run with shows at 1, 3 and 5:30 p.m. daily. The circus is located on the east side of the fairgrounds just inside Gate 2.

It also has been announced that a three-year demographic survey of fairgoers will continue this year. The survey is conducted by University of Illinois faculty members and Springfield area college students.

Members of the survey team will move from area to area at the fair and will be at the exits each evening asking fairgoers where they are from, how much money they spent at the fair, how they found out about the fair, and their likes and dislikes.

The study is intended to help determine the economic impact of the fair on the Springfield area, show various reasons why people attend it, and help analyze state fair operating procedures and promotions.

Persons interested in obtaining copies of the 1981 survey may do so by calling the Office of Recreation and Park Resources at the University of Illinois, 217-333-1824. The current survey will be available this fall.

THEFT OF BILLFOLD
Sandra Murray, 3806 Kirkpatrick Homes, reported the theft of her wallet from the seat of a vehicle, parked in the lot outside the housing complex office, during the weekend. Official papers and her driver's license were in the billfold.

$124 for pickpocket
The average purse snatcher get $98 per grab, while the average pickpocket gets $124.

HEARING AUG. 9 ON RUTH DRIVE CARPORT

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals at 9:30 a.m. Aug. 9 will consider the request of Vanetta Leimkuhler, 3606 Ruth Drive, south of Pontoon Road, for construction of a carport onto an existing residence.

The hearing will be at the site, which is in an R-3 one-family residential area of Nameoki Township. The carport would be 2½ feet from the side lot line instead of the required 7.2 feet.

Continue to upgrade tracks at Mitchell

Missouri Pacific Railroad is upgrading 70 miles of track in west central Illinois acquired from Conrail in April for mainline freight train operations.

The track between Mitchell in the local community and Pana, Ill., forms a key link in MoPac's route connecting Chicago and St. Louis, the nation's two largest rail centers, a spokesman said.

MoPac's renovation project involves virtually rebuilding the line.

In May, track crews began replacing 100,000 cross-ties and applying 2,560 carloads of ballast (crushed stone).

In October, a MoPac rail gang will begin installing continuous welded rail on the line.

Missouri Pacific and predecessor railroads have held rights to operate over the track since 1902.

However, MoPac assumed ownership and exclusive operation of the new line only this spring.

Improvements to the line, which MoPac plans to complete by the end of this year, will permit trains to operate at higher speeds in one of the nation's prime transportation corridors.

"This is one of the most quoted Scripture verses of the Bible. And what a message comes flowing through this statement."

"He, Magnify God! Exalt Him. Lift Him up in praise and He will in turn exalt you. All things work together for good to them who love God. God knows what he is doing in your life. He can make evil turn and work for your good."

"He will restore your soul. Cost every care upon him because he cares for you. Accept his Spirit now. His presence now. Feel your soul soar into his bosom and feel it being restored."

Lapse expenditures by state will set a record

By the time the state of Illinois pays all of its debts for fiscal year 1982, the state will have ended that year with an estimated $300 million budget deficit, State Comptroller Roland W. Burris reported this week.

Burris said the 1982 fiscal year would almost double the previous high negative figure of $163 million at the end of fiscal 1977.

Moreover, he expects "lapse period" spending to reach $500 million, the highest in the history of the state.

The "lapse period" is the three-month period from July 1 through Sept. 30 in which the state must—by law—pay all bills and remaining bills or debts incurred in the fiscal year.

Just ended in June, the state had $187 million in its general funds payments must be subtracted from that year-end balance.

Lapse period payments of $500 million, thus, would negate the $187 million and leave a negative budget balance of more than $300 million.

The comptroller's summary of the state's 1982 fiscal position is part of his regular monthly fiscal report.

Another section of that report, the Illinois economic picture, takes a close look at what high interest rates have done to the Illinois savings and loan industry.

The regular report on the state government's general fiscal condition shows that although 1982 spending fell slightly below the fiscal 1981 level, the state nonetheless was left with $10 million less balance than at the start of that fiscal year.

Here are some of the key findings from the special report on the state's 1982 fiscal year:

—Total revenues in 1982 were $185 million higher than in 1981, the smallest annual increase in revenues since 1966, when the growth was $13 million.

Even so, the low growth rate was "dropped up" by additional lottery fund transfers of $69 million, a shift of $61 million from special funds, a one-time $20 million transfer from the corporate loan fund, and an additional $12 million from the personal property tax replacement fund.

Had these transactions not taken place, general revenues in 1982 would have been $174 million less ($9 million below the 1981 total).

Total expenditures in 1982 were $18 million less than in 1981, the first time annual expenditures have decreased since the beginning of annual appropriations in 1970.

Only a major change in state spending commitments would have been up to $18 million in 1982.

Those changes include delay of $126 million June school aid claims until July, a cutback of $18 million in state contributions to the teachers and state employee retirement systems, and suspension of $39 million in transfers to the debt service funds.

There also was a slowing of public aid grants until the lapse period, to delay an outlay of $85 million. And there was a similar $16 million shift in spending patterns and commitments, total expenditures in fiscal 1982 would have been up an additional $402 million.

—Lapse period spending. Though the final figure will not be available until Sept.

30, there is every indication now that 1982 lapse period spending or payments will approximate $500 million, the highest in history.

If there is a $300 million-plus imbalance it would be the sixth negative budget balance in the last seven years and would almost double the previous high negative figure of $163 million at the end of fiscal 1977.

Burris said, "The impact is this: Over $300 million of (1982) fiscal year, indicative of a precarious fiscal position."

—Budget estimates revised sharply. "Perhaps looking to an economic recovery, but not the Bureau of the Budget estimates for revenues were off target by more than $500 million in the 1982 budget book."

Under the "budgetary balance" concept, it also has been balanced, only four times in 1973, 1974, 1975 and 1979.

Under the "General Assembly balance" concept, the budget has been balanced only once, in 1974.

"Even revised estimates in the fall and the following spring similarly fell below expectations, setting the stage for the drastic spending changes that dominated the last half of the fiscal year, and spilling over into 1983," Burris asserted.

—Was the general funds budget balanced? The answer is "no," no matter what concept is used for measurement, Burris said.

Under the "available balance" concept, the state budget has been balanced only four times in the last 10 years.

Assails state school budget

State Superintendent of Education Donald G. Gill is "deeply distressed, though not surprised" by the governor's announcement that he is reducing education funds appropriated for the 1983 fiscal year.

"He is in the position of reducing appropriations which were already well below the 'bare-bones' level requested by the State Board of Education," Dr. Gill said.

Inadequate funding for the new school year can cause severe hardships for schools and the children they serve.

"Our schools have already borne more than their fair share of the burden for meeting the state's current financial strain. The education community acceded to the governor's request for state and local payments to balance the budget. Now, school budgets must be stretched even more."

The governor vetoed $49,800,000 for elementary and secondary education to the level of his March proposal, $2.1 billion.

3,000 BPW delegates meet in Texas

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

A Texas welcome greeted more than 3,000 representatives of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women at its annual convention in San Antonio.

In the keynote address, National BPW President Phyllis Harrison of Royal Oak, Mich., received a standing ovation as she called for "a turning point" in the 63-year-old organization.

The enthusiastic delegates also afforded standing ovations as Mrs. Harrison presented the BPW Distinguished Service Award to former U.S. Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine and to Lynn Cutler of Iowa, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee and a candidate for Congress. Both were cited as role models for women in politics.

The former U.S. senator, now 64, has been a BPW member since 1922. She received the award in recognition of her "significant contributions to American life during a long and distinguished career in public service."

Mrs. Smith paid tribute to the women who paved the way for her political career and spoke of some of her accomplishments on behalf of women. The Maine Republican is the only woman to serve in both the U.S. House and Senate and she supports the Reagan administration's efforts to bolster the nation's defense, she said.

Mrs. Cutler's award was in recognition of her leadership for women entering the political arena.

Challenging the membership to make the 1982 convention "a new beginning by charting a strong, vigorous program to meet the needs of today's women," Mrs. Harrison further challenged the 165,000-member nationwide organization "to learn to play the hard game of politics."

Referring to the failure of the Equal Rights Amendment, Mrs.

Harrison stated that the convention was assembling this year less than triumphant, but far from defeated.

"We will not get angry," she said, "because that would accomplish nothing. But we will get even. We will stand out by a handful of legislators, but come election time, we will remember."

"We must elect women in every possible position across this land. And we must organize, promote and fund Political Action Committees (PAC) in every state."

"We must become volunteers. PAC backers. We have to show the nation that women should be taken seriously. This means we must endorse a candidate in every race," she stressed.

San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros and Adele Heges of Houston, chairman of the Congressional Task Force on Minorities and Women, welcomed delegates to the five-day convention. Among those attending from here were Annellen Smith, president of the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women, Sharold Yount, Granite City BPW Club president, Barbara Hodges, vice president, and Roseanne Stern and Sylvia Wright, past presidents of the local club.

A total of 1,525 votes was cast in a run-off election for the national offices of third vice president, won by Mary Ray Oaken, and treasurer, won by Betty Forbes.

Other national officers declared winners were: Polly Madenwald, president-elect; Winifred E. Lehighridge, first vice president; Anne Steinbeck, second vice president; and Beth Wray, recording secretary. J. L. Libner of South Carolina, the 1982-83 National BPW Federation president, was elected. Mrs. Harrison was installed with the new national officers at a gala installation dinner party.

Chouteau approves tax levies

By DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

Tax levies of $50,850 in the town fund and $5,000 in the general assistance fund for a total of $55,850 were approved at the Chouteau Township meeting Monday night.

The total was up $3,050 from last year's $52,800. Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks noted that the 1970 census listed 6,521 residents in the township and in 1980 the total had increased to 8,627, with 5,198 of the figure listed as Mitchell area residents.

He reviewed progress on a proposal the township had submitted to the City of Granite City in relation to the ambulance service. "We are now waiting for an answer from Doc Miklovic, city controller of Granite City, but I feel approval will be given, as it is a feasible program," Sparks added.

Township expects to receive $32,695, a reduction of $12,058, from Community Development funds. Sparks reported, "The payout is to become effective Oct. 1 of this year and the cut is a result of Housing and Urban Development Department findings. The amount Chouteau Township is to receive was gauged by population instead of poverty, the supervisor said.

A letter from the Madison County Economic Commission proposed local distribution of free cheese in August and September if township officials will agree to set up a distribution center.

The Board of Trustees agreed to receive 67,200 pounds of cheese to be given to township residents from the Chouteau Town Hall. The first delivery is expected in the first week of August and the second shipment is to arrive at the end of September, Sparks said.

Only low-income and handicapped persons are eligible to receive the cheese, he related.

In other business, Mrs. Patricia Polley, town clerk, read a notification that the township had received replacement taxes of $3,843 in the town fund and $4,899 in the road and bridge fund. Board members also agreed to renew burglary insurance for Cletus Bedwell, tax collector, in the amount of $20,000 to be effective from July 19 until Sept. 5.

It was noted that county zoning officials denied a request from the Burl Orlinger family for a special 5-year permit to place a mobile home on Old Anton Road.

Sealed bids for a contract to paint the exterior of the Township Hall will be received at the office, located at 607 N. Throntage Drive, until the public bid opening at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 9, Supervisor Sparks announced. The successful bidder will have 30 days to complete the project.

County's soil survey honored

Madison County was presented a 1982 achievement award at the 47th annual conference of the National Association of Counties (NACo) in Baltimore, Md., this month. The NACo awards are given each year to counties which have been specifically honored for their outstanding citizen service and for "innovative programs leading to more efficient, modern county government."

Madison County received its award for its soil survey, which was completed in 1981.

The soil survey began in December 1975 in conjunction with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service to complete a detailed survey of 67,446 acres within Madison County.

The survey details more than 120 soil types within Madison County by real estate parcel. It is available in map and tabular form to builders, developers, land owners, engineers, planners and assessors throughout Madison County.

Since it was founded in 1925, NACo's goals have remained the same — to improve county government, to act as a national spokesman for counties, to serve as the liaison between counties and other levels of government and to enhance public awareness of the role of counties in the federal system.

Man batters mother, son

Arlene Brooks, 151 Briarwood Lane, reported Monday that during an argument with a man, he struck her with his fist, kicked her as she fell to the floor and then left the house in her black 1980 auto.

When her 11-year-old son tried to stop the man from hitting his mother, the assailant twice struck the boy, knocking him down. Mrs. Brooks said. He had a large bruise and swelling on the right side of the face. Police searched the area but failed to find the auto and driver, who was described as 24 years old with reddish brown hair, a beard and a mustache. He weighed 170 pounds and was five feet, nine inches tall.

11 Quad-Cityans graduate at SIUC

Commencement exercises for about 5,300 degree candidates were held at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale after the spring semester. Nine of the candidates were from Granite City, one from Madison and one from Venice.

Two commencement sessions were held, one in the morning and one in the afternoon, in the SIU Arena. Degree candidates from Granite City were: John William Bischoff, Rural Route 1, bachelor of science; Charles Douglas Clark, 1349 Edwardsville Road, bachelor of music; Jeffrey Scott Dugan, 112 Springfield Ave., bachelor of science; Karla Lynn Foote, 2501 Delmar Ave., bachelor of science.

Also, Donald Robert Gau, 2131 Amos Ave., associate in applied science and bachelor of science; Andrew Forsman Hall, 2501 Edison Ave., bachelor of science; Leslie Ellen Houser, 29 Bermuda Lane, associate in applied science; Robert A. Miller, 1 Rose Lane, bachelor of arts; and Don A. Watson Jr., 2728 Fair Oaks Drive, bachelor of arts.

Francesca M. Anselmo, 1711 Elizabeth St., Madison, was a candidate for a bachelor of science degree. Oscar E. Hagler, 25 Lee Wright Homes, Venice, was a candidate for an associate degree in applied science.

Richard Wagner, executive director of the Illinois Board of Higher Education, presented the morning session commencement address and Paul Schillip, SIUC emeritus in the SIUC department of philosophy and editor of the Library of Living Philosophers book series, gave the afternoon address.

Degrees were conferred by SIUC President Albert Somli.

Uses bottle to cut woman

As she was entering her apartment at 2015 Washington Ave. this week, two men approached Sandra Pharis and threatened her, displaying a broken beer bottle.

One, who had long curly blond hair and was wearing a T-shirt and jeans, then slashed her on both forearms and also cut the jeans she was wearing. The man dropped the bottle and both assailants fled from the building.

Mrs. Pharis reported having seen the men on a previous occasion when they made threatening remarks after she asked the pair to quiet down.

Pilot program for discounts

Governor James R. Thompson announced this week that the governor's senior merchant discount program for the elderly has been awarded $25,000 for a model project from the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

"Old age brings with it increased probability of income hardships," Thompson said. "Regardless of the size or adequacy of income or the time of retirement, the maintenance of adequate income throughout old age is a major problem for most older Illinoisans."

Purpose of the program is to develop a discount program that will ease the impact of a fixed income by identifying and certifying retail businesses to offer discounts and other considerations to the elderly. The six-month demonstration program will be based in DuPage County and reach approximately 25,000 senior citizens. The Citizens, The Citizens, The Citizens, the Council of DuPage will work with the governor's office to develop the program within the pilot area and subsequently statewide.
